British authorities on Darrell's Island removed a total of 1800 of the 4,000 pounds of air mail from America aboard the huge flying boat, according to the Journal and American.

Although officials of Pan American Airways, which operated the twice-weekly trans-Atlantic service, declined to comment, the report of the large seizure of mail addressed to Germany was confirmed by the highest authorities, the Journal and American stated.

F. D. R., BRICKER REGIMES FACE TEST AT POLLS

MRS. BOLTON FAVORED

Democrats Play Expense Of Special Elections, Hit
Executive's Order

COLUMBUS, Feb. 27—Two special congressional elections were held in Ohio today with eyes of the state and nation focused on the 17th District, for there the voting has been billed as a test of New Deal strength and also that of the Bricker state administration.

Urging the election of State Rep. J. Harry McGregor in the politically uncertain 17th, G. O. P. State Chairman Ed Schorr said a Republican victory would "be a severe blow to New Dealers and the third term ambitions of the President."

McGregor, an uncompromising New Deal foe, opposed Byron Ashbrook, a Democrat and nephew of the late Congressman William A. Ashbrook (D) whose unexpired term the winner will serve.

Since Governor John W. Bricker, a dark horse G. O. P. presidential possibility, campaigned for his close political ally, McGregor, Republican whip in the Ohio house of representatives, some observers expected the outcome to indicate the degree of public acceptance of the Bricker legislative program.

Mrs. Bolton Favored

The other special election was in the normally Republican 22nd District which only once, in the 1936 Roosevelt landslide, elected a Democratic congressman. There Mrs. Frances Payne Bolton, (R), widow of the late Rep. Chester C. Bolton, opposed Democratic Anthony Flegler for her husband's unexpired term. If elected, Mrs. Bolton would be Ohio's first woman in congress.

The 17th District in the last three biennial elections has elected a Democratic congressman while returning majorities for G. O. P. gubernatorial candidates in 1934 and 1938 and for the Democratic nominee in 1936.

Democrats, citing the dearth of local relief funds in many counties, severely criticized Gov. Bricker for calling the two special elections, the cost of which must be borne by the nine counties affected. But Bricker, answering the charge that he was playing politics, contended the state constitution made the elections mandatory.

"Intimidation" Charged

IRENE'S REMARKS ABOUT HATS RESULTS IN SUIT

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 27—Irene Castle McLaughlin, the former dancer, was made defendant today in a $150,000 damage suit brought by Sonya Zaranof, Hollywood milliner, who alleged Miss Castle had made slanderous remarks about her hats.

"Her (Miss Zaranof's) hats are terrible," the complaint charged Miss Castle with declaring.

Since the former dancer is an authority on fashions, such a remark, the complaint related, caused Miss Zaranof great financial loss.

In her answer, Miss Castle stated Miss Zaranof was once employed by her to design hats and that when a business firm asked her as to the ability of Miss Zaranof, she rendered an honest opinion without ill will.

EQUIPMENT FOR GAUGING RIVER STAGE REPAIRED

Equipment with which to measure the stage of the Scioto River has been put in repair and the key to the apparatus has been turned over to Irvin Leist, superintendent of the disposal plant. Mr. Leist said that measurements will not be taken daily, but only when the river makes a decided change. He said that the stage at the Main Street bridge at noon Tuesday was 4.34 feet and that the river was rising.

HOT FINN-RED BATTLE RAGING

Far North Reported To Be Struggle Scene; Viborg
Area Still Held

HELSINKI, Feb. 27 — While the admitted loss of Koivisto fortress brought additional Soviet pressure on the city of Viborg, Finland's weary defenders today clung grimly to their newly assumed second line positions in the Mannerheim Line as they fought off continued Russian assaults.

While the war-weary Finnish forces kept up the struggle in the Carelian Isthmus, reports received via Kirkenes, Norway, told of a new violent battle raging in far northern Finland near Hoenjaervi.

Soviet planes were said to have engaged Finnish fighting craft for the first time in this sector since the war began. Heavy land fighting also was reported in progress.

In addition, lively activity also was reported on the Kuhnmo section of the eastern frontier.

Norwegians See Battle

The Kirkenes reports stated that the aerial battle over Hoenjaervi was witnessed by residents of the Norwegian battle area, who reported violent encounters between Finnish pursuit planes and Russian bombers which supported the Soviet ground attack.

It could not be learned whether the positions on the Kuhnmo and Hoenjaervi fronts had been altered as a result of the battles.

GERMAN PLANES DOWNED IN TRIP OVER BRIT AREA

LONDON, Feb. 27—British planes shot down two German bombers off the East Coast of Britain today, according to the British air ministry.

Two separate communiqués were issued. One stated:

"The Royal Air Force fighter command shot down early this afternoon a second Heinkel bomber off the Northumberland Coast. Three members of the crew were seen taking to rubber boats."

The first communiqué stated: "A Royal Air Force fighter command patrol engaged and shot down a Heinkel plane off the mouth of Firth of Forth shortly before 1 p. m."

Earlier the air ministry announced widespread flights by British warplanes over German territory and defenses, stating the British aircraft penetrated as far as Berlin.

The money is designated for improvement of county-owned roads and streets, city-owned streets in Circleville and village-owned streets in Ashville and Williamsport.

Harry Griner, county engineer, was pleased to hear that the blanket program had won approval. He said that work had already been started on it and that it will continue for six months employing about 450 men.

Griner declared that the project called for improvements of roads, bridges, berms and anything else that had to do with travel.

Twenty-five percent of the expense of the project is paid by the county commissioners.

GERMAN PLANES MAKING FLIGHTS OVER PARIS AREA

PARIS, Feb. 27—Citizens of Paris have suffered their first casualties of the war, it was disclosed today with renewal of German aerial activity in the vicinity of the capital.

Correspondents were permitted to cable abroad the fact that six persons were injured, one seriously, in the streets of Paris yesterday by shrapnel resulting from anti-aircraft fire directed at an undisclosed number of Nazi planes which appeared over the city.

A similar new approach of German planes was indicated today when heavy anti-aircraft firing was heard in the distance.

This firing proved that the Germans were continuing their reconnaissance flights over the environs (Continued on Page Two)

British Lose Steamer; Reports of Major Sea Fight Are Unconfirmed

LONDON, Feb. 27—Loss of the 5,936-ton British steamer Clan Morrison, which struck a mine in the North Sea, was announced today as authorities indicated that Germany's submarine warfare appears to be waning.

One member of the Clan Morrison's crew was killed and 15 were injured when the mine exploded, authorities said.

At the same time it was stated officially that four British and three neutral merchant ships totalling 26,628 tons were sunk by enemy action during the week ending February 25.

This announcement said the burst of German U-boat activity appeared to have spent itself and that British warships prevented the scuttling of the German vessel Wahehe, which was brought into a British port.

Russian Fear Of Trouble With Powers
Of West Cited; Bitter Fighting Goes
On In Finland's Northern Region

Peace efforts—faced with formidable odds—held the European spotlight today as events began moving forward at an increased tempo following American Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles' conversation with Premier Mussolini.

While diplomatic circles in Rome buzzed with speculation regarding the "autographed message" from President Roosevelt that Welles handed to Il Duce, the American diplomat worked quietly in the United States embassy, drawing up reports on his conversation with the Italian dictator and foreign minister.

It was indicated that Welles will stop off at Berne, Switzerland, en route to Berlin for conferences with Swiss government authorities.

At the same time, Pope Pius XII received Myron C. Taylor, President Roosevelt's "peace envoy" to the Vatican. Taylor conferred with the Pope for 35 minutes, handling over an autographed letter from the American President. The entire ceremony made it clear that Taylor is acting only as the American President's personal envoy.

Finn War To End?

While deep secrecy surrounded whatever peace efforts Welles may be initiating, a move for termination of the Russo-Finnish war appeared to be well under way.

Reports from both Copenhagen and Stockholm said that Germany was extremely active in pressing Moscow to accept mediation of the conflict and that the Soviets were bending a receptive ear to this suggestion now that the Red army is scoring successes against Finland.

The Stockholm dispatch, quoting reports from Moscow, pointed out that Moscow is anxious to avoid the danger of becoming involved in the war between the Western European powers.

Fighting continued in Finland on a major scale as Finnish troops clung grimly to their latest positions in the Mannerheim Line following the admitted loss of the vital Koivisto fortress. It appeared to be only a matter of time before the Russians would be able to capture the ruined city of Viborg.

At the same time, other advances received in Helsinki told of bitter fighting in the Far North near Hoenjaervi which included a large-scale aerial engagement.

The Moscow communiqué told of continued advances on the Carelian Isthmus and claimed that 19 Finnish warplanes had been shot down.

Both the French and German war communiques were non-committal, but Paris reported air raid alarms over the French capital and the sound of bursting anti-aircraft shells.

London's air ministry announced that the Royal Air Force carried out widespread reconnaissance flights over the Reich and that some British planes even penetrated to Berlin. All the British aircraft returned safely, the announcement said.

FISH TO FORCE VOTE ON HELP FOR FINLAND

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 — A determined drive to force a roll call vote in the house on a measure granting beleaguered Finland a direct, unrestricted loan of $20,000,000 was opened today.

If the move, led by Rep. Hamilton Fish of New York, ranking Republican on the house foreign affairs committee, proves successful, the membership of the lower chamber would be forced to go on record for, or against, direct aid to the little Baltic republic.

ENGINEER TRIES TO SLAY WIFE, ENDS OWN LIFE

HERMOSA BEACH, Cal., Feb. 27—Authorities today probed the weird suicide and attempted murder of his wife by Harry Thomas Bates, 50, aviation engineer.

Bates, police said, tied his wife, Mrs. Alice Lewis Bates, 49, whom he married only last December 18, to a chair and then turned on the gas in their small apartment. As she struggled before him, he pushed another chair under a lighting fixture, made a rope fast to it, and hanged himself.

Mrs. Bates' escaped death by managing to free herself before the gas fumes took effect.

Bates was employed by the North American Aviation Company. A brilliant man scientifically, he was a graduate of the Colorado School of Mines. Later he taught school in Pittsburgh and won some notice as a portrait painter. In 1934 and 1935 he was said to have aided in moulding the huge 200-inch Mount Palomar telescope lens.

Mrs. Bates said her husband had been despondent of late, but she could give no real motive for his act.

LOCKHEED READY TO BEGIN DELIVERY OF FAST PLANE

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 27 — Delivery of the fastest military planes in the world, constructed for the U. S. Army Air Corps, will begin shortly, Robert E. Gross, president of the Lockheed Aircraft Company, said today. Top speed is more than 420 miles an hour.

The planes were accepted for army use after a trial flight a year ago in which Lieut. B. S. Kelsey flew one of them from March Field to Mitchell Field, Long Island, in 7 hours, 45 minutes and 36 seconds, not far behind the transcontinental record of 7 hours, 28 minutes and 23 seconds.

A $10,000,000 order has been placed, and planes are being built on a production schedule which will assure delivery ahead of time.

Emissary to Europe Keeps
In Touch With Chief,
Secretary Hull

ROME, Feb. 27.—Myron C. Taylor, President Roosevelt's personal "peace envoy" to the Vatican, presented his credentials to Pope Pius XII today in a cordial ceremony stripped of some of the usual formalities.

The private audience was held at the Vatican while diplomatic circles in Rome buzzed with speculation as to the nature of the "autographed message" American Under Secretary of State Sumner Welles yesterday handed to Premier Mussolini. Ignoring the excitement, Welles worked quietly at the United States Embassy.

Taylor's audience with the pontiff lasted 35 minutes. It began with Taylor handing over an "autographed letter" from President Roosevelt to his Holiness in which Taylor was formally presented as the American President's personal ambassador.

This, Vatican circles emphasized, did not constitute "formal diplomatic credentials." Formal speeches and other usual ceremonial details of the presentation of an envoy to the pontiff did not take place.

Mission of Importance

Commenting on the simplicity of the audience, a high Vatican prelate said:

"The pomp this time is in the heart of everyone in the Vatican conscious of the importance of Mr. Taylor's mission."

At termination of the audience the Pope asked Taylor to convey his "affectionate wishes to President Roosevelt and the great American people, whom I am able personally and closely to appreciate."

Welles in a conference with American correspondents announced he would return to Italy after a tour of other European capitals and said he expected to confer with Premier Mussolini again. He said he plans to arrive in Berlin March 1.

First, he declared he will stop in Switzerland for personal reasons and confer with the American minister at Bern.

"I am deeply grateful for the courtesies shown by the Italian government and I found my conversations with Premier Mussolini and Foreign Minister Count Ciano very helpful."

France After Berlin

Welles revealed that after going to Berlin, where the length of his stay has not been determined, he plans to go to France via Switzerland.

He disclaimed knowledge of any new Hitler peace project and declined to comment on the nature of his Rome conversations.

Welles stated he was keeping in touch with President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull and indicated that at present he does not plan to visit Pope Pius on his return to Rome.

During the morning he received various neutral diplomats, especially Latin American envoys.

Aided by secretaries and members of his entourage, Welles kept busy drawing up reports of his talks yesterday.

Welles is scheduled to leave Rome about midnight for Germany.

All the information given out about Welles' visit so far has stressed the cordiality of his conversations with Mussolini and Count Ciano. The communique regarding his talk with Il Duce merely said:

"Premier Mussolini received Mr. Welles in the presence of Count Ciano and Ambassador Phillips (the American envoy). Mr. Welles delivered the autographed message from President Roosevelt. The conversation, which was very cordial, lasted one hour."

No explanation of the reason for Welles' plans to go to Berlin via Switzerland, probably stopping at Bern, was forthcoming from official quarters.

But the newspaper Popolo Di Roma, in a dispatch from Bern, predicted that Welles' conversations in Rome would result in improvement of American trade relations with Italy and other neutral nations.

Viborg, the country's second city, to the invading Russians—but only after it has been reduced to "scorched earth cursed by God."

It was believed that this point will be cleared of all civilians who now are exposed to direct artillery bombardment as the Soviet pressure against the Viborg area increases.

Batteries Destroyed

In keeping with the Finnish policy of leaving nothing useful to the Russians behind them, the forces that withdrew from the Kolisto fortress blew up the huge artillery batteries there before abandoning them.

Then they retreated on skis in small groups across the bay. The Finnish high command ordered abandonment of the fortress after choosing to save the men stationed there rather than have them continue to harry the Russians until they were finally overwhelmed and annihilated.

Members of the Finnish garrison were nearly trapped by a fissure in the ice in front of the village of Kolisto directly under the Russian guns as they fled across the bay, it was learned.

But just before dawn the fissure closed, allowing them to reach safety without being detected by the Soviets in the darkness. Incessant Russian aerial attacks on the Kolisto fortress were responsible for making the Finns withdraw.

Russian planes were increasing activity over southern Finland. There were three air raid alarms at Helsinki, but no bombs were dropped there. Several southern Finnish towns were bombed but only a few persons were killed and damage was slight.

in the Census Act of 1929 for refusal to answer questions applying to individuals and their families. The 1940 census begins April 1.

Reed, veteran New York Republican legislator and one-time Cornell football hero, objected especially to questions in the proposed housing census relating to value of property, amount of mortgage payments, interest rates and other questions relating to income.

"I speak only for myself, and wife," said Reed. "They have placed questions in the census which go beyond the authority granted by congress in enacting legislation for the taking of the census."

Despite a fight by Reed and others, the house today sent to the senate a $90,000,000 deficiency bill which includes $5,000,000 for the taking of the housing census.

Yesterday, the house first adopted an amendment abolishing the penalty on citizens refusing to answer questions, but later reversed itself by a record vote of 196 to 139.

WALLACE VOICES PLEA FOR TRADE TREATY'S O.K.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Secretary of Agriculture Wallace told congress today that the administration's reciprocal trade treaty program must be extended as a "foundational stone" for world trade revival in the future.

Appearing as a witness before the senate finance committee holding hearings on the house-approved resolution to extend the trade treaty law three years, Wallace said abandonment of the program when the existing law expires June 12 would put the United States "in an impossible situation."

Contrary to opposition "propaganda," the agriculture department chief declared, interests of the domestic farmer have been amply protected under the trade agreement program.

"Where imports have been high," he said, "prices have been high." Tariff reduction under the treaty, asserted the witness, made up only 14 percent of total agricultural imports in 1937. And about half of the 14 percent, he added, comprised sugar imports, which are limited under a quota system.

These flights are being made, a military spokesman said, in obvious retaliation for allied operations.

He said that groups of German aircraft—groups consisting of five or more planes from which there is danger of aerial bombardment—caused sporadic air raid alarms all over northern and central France from 9 o'clock last night to 6 a. m. today.

There was also considerable activity in the Paris region.

Just before dawn today an hour-long air raid warning was sounded in Paris but there were no developments. Eight hours earlier, however, French anti-aircraft guns and pursuit planes beat off two German planes which had penetrated over the French capital.

CONSERVATION UNITS IN COUNTY SCHOOLS VISITED

C. E. Webb, field agent for the state department of conservation, who organized the conservation clubs in the township schools of the county, visited the clubs Monday and Tuesday at Pickaway, Washington, Walnut, Salt Creek, Jackson, Deer Creek, Perry and New Holland schools.

On Wednesday, Mr. Webb will inspect the clubs at Darby, 8:45 a. m.; Scioto, 11 a. m.; Monroe, 1 p. m.; Ashville, 2:30 p. m.

The clubs were organized by Mr. Webb early in January to instruct school children in the conservation of game and fowl.

not there are British naval units in that area."

"It is not the intention of the admiralty to satisfy their curiosity," these sources added.

A Reuters dispatch from Copenhagen said the harbor master at Varde, the northern-most point in Norway, declared he had seen no warships and heard no gunfire.

Likewise, the dispatch said, the Norwegian admiralty had received no news of a sea battle in the Petsamo area.

An International News Service dispatch from Copenhagen said that according to unconfirmed rumors, a sea fight occurred off Petsamo between allied warships and German vessels.

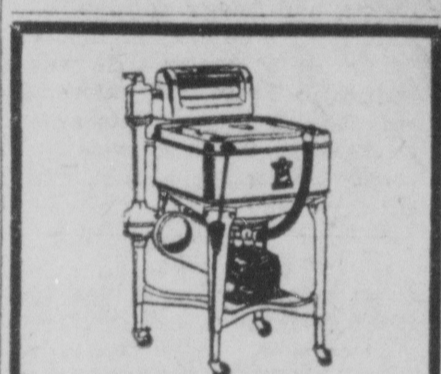

One version of the incident was that the Anglo-French vessels had captured or sunk two German freighters.

A similar Copenhagen dispatch to the London News Chronicle said the reports of the supposed sea battle originated from Varde, northwest of the Finnish Petsamo fjord.

A different version was given in a Reuters dispatch from Oslo, which stated that nothing was known in the Norwegian capital of any naval battle between British and German warships in the Arctic.

Authoritative quarters in London were unable to provide any confirmation of a report that two German vessels had been sunk during an engagement in the Petsamo region.

In the far east it was forbidden to step upon carpets with shoes on the feet, and the custom is still found in some parts of Persia.

HALF OF NAZIS' SUB FLEET GONE, BRITISH CHARGE

LONDON, Feb. 27.—By the end of 1939, Germany had already lost at least one-half of the submarine fleet in service at the outbreak of the war, Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, told the House of Commons in introducing the British naval estimates today.

During the last two days he said there has been one certain and two "almost certain" U-boat sinkings.

"We must clearly expect," Churchill said, "that attacks will be delivered against British sea-power on a far greater scale than anything we have so far beaten back and beaten down."

"We have been making since outbreak of the war immense additional preparations to meet these reinforced attacks, whether from U-boats, mine-laying or the air."

"Our killings of U-boats may continue to be estimated at between two and four weekly."

F. D.'S STATE SOLONS OPPOSE ANOTHER TERM

Resolution Approved By New York Senate Would Halt Possibility

SESSION TURBULENT ONE

Dewey Comes In For His Share Of Criticism During Meeting

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 27 — A resolution opposing a third term for President Roosevelt, passed by the Republican-controlled state senate after its introduction by a New York City Democrat, was before the lower house of the legislature today with approval there considered likely.

The measure, sponsored by State Senator John P. McNaboe, Tammany Democrat, memorializes congress to enact "suitable legislation to prevent any president from seeking a third term."

Speaker Oswald D. Heck of the lower house, also Republican-controlled, indicated the resolution will be reported from committee in the house in the near future. It was passed in the senate by a voice vote and 25 Republicans joined McNaboe in voting against a motion to reconsider its passage.

Seventeen of the 18 Democrats present in the chamber voted against the resolution after Minority Leader John J. Dunnigan accused the Republicans of being "afraid of Roosevelt."

"He's the only candidate you can't beat," said Dunnigan, "and if he is nominated for a third term, he'll win."

Republican senators greeted this prediction with derisive shouts.

Dewey Flayed
Dunnigan also turned the occasion into an attack on Thomas E. Dewey, aspirant to the Republican presidential nomination, who is here today for a speech to upstate Republican leaders.

"You're bringing a big gas tank from New York up here in the hope of revitalizing the Republican party," he said. "It can't be done."

Several Republican senators, it is known, have considered introducing resolutions condemning a third term, but they decided not to do so. When McNaboe gave them the opening, however, they gleefully passed his resolution.

The Democrats pointed out that all but one of their party members in the senate went on record as refusing to oppose a third term.

The McNaboe resolution quoted the farewell address of George Washington, refusing a third term as president, and continued:

"This tradition of a president of the United States not seeking election for a third term forms the one remaining bulwark protecting the people of this nation against the threat of the establishment of a dictatorship."

Minority Rights Lost?
"With the establishment of a dictatorship the minorities now accorded their rights under our Constitution will be swept aside and accorded the same treatment now given them in certain countries of Europe."

If passed by the assembly, copies of the resolution will be sent to the vice-president, the speaker of the house of representatives and each member of congress from New York state.

SHOPLIFTING SUSPECT REMEMBERS THE CHIEF

A kind word from the law to crime is not easily forgotten and Police Chief William McCrady was not particularly tough on the gang of shoplifters caught in Circleville a couple of weeks back.

At least the Chief had a tender spot for Marion Clifton who became ill and was removed to Berger Hospital. And she thanked "Donald Duck," as she affectionately called him.

No, she didn't forget "Chief Donald Duck." A package arrived for the chief Monday afternoon from Chillicothe and when all the wrappings were torn aside there was Donald Duck standing on a pile of eggs wrapped in cellophane. Around his neck was a note which read, "To Chief McCrady from Marion Clifton."

"I wonder what we'll get when those eggs hatch," the Chief said.

SECOND PROVIDES BOND

Mims Matthews, 22, Detroit, one of the sextet of shoplifters caught in Circleville on February 10, was released from the Ross County jail Monday after posting a $500 bond for her appearance for the April term grand jury on a charge of grand larceny. Mrs. L. T. Cade, Detroit, was released last week after posting a $400 bond. The other four are still being held in default of bond.

PETTENGILL

"The Gentleman from Indiana"

BUREAUCRATIC DESPOTISM

If, for a certain crime Congress fixed a year in prison as the maximum penalty, what would you think of a judge who imposed a penalty of two years? Or if the judge ordered the offender to be deprived of police and fire protection, or water, gas and electricity for his home? You would say that the judge was a tyrant. You would be right. A tyrant is anyone whose own arbitrary will becomes the law to govern other men.

We became a nation because we revolted against tyrants. Our forefathers refused to live under the doctrine of the divine right of kings. They insisted that the people alone are sovereign and alone have the power to govern other men.

A shocking disregard of this fundamental American doctrine came to light a few days ago by a House Committee's investigation of the National Labor Relations Board. We learn that last August NLRB entered into an arrangement with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. Under it NLRB was to notify RFC of any American business against which a "charge" had been made, or was about to be made (sic) that it had been guilty of some unfair labor practice. If that concern had arranged for a loan from the RFC, the latter was to withhold all disbursements to the borrower. We are told that Madame Perkins' Wage and Hour Division made similar arrangements with the RFC.

Two points should be stressed. It has never been the rule that a penalty could be imposed on an American citizen before he was found guilty of an offense. In the horse and buggy days, a citizen had first to be found guilty before suffering a penalty. He was entitled to a fair trial before judgment, and judgment before jail.

That is old stuff today. The New Deal in justice is to shut off credit the instant anyone is "charged" with violating the law, or even when he is "about to be charged". The assumption now is that the citizen is guilty first and innocent only if he can prove it. But this assumes that Congress had in fact authorized the withholding of credit in addition to a fine after the offender, upon due trial, has been found guilty. The case goes deeper. Congress has not authorized anyone to withhold credit as an additional punishment for an unfair labor practice, either before or after trial and conviction. NLRB and RFC have therefore secretly undertaken to impose penalties upon American citizens over and above those prescribed by Congress. This is the essence of tyranny. It is government by executive decree. It is not only contemptible; it is cowardly because it was done secretly. The fact that it exists has been disclosed only by reason of the courage and faithfulness of Congressman Smith's Committee, whose creation was opposed as long as possible by the administration.

Let us restate the question: Here is the Jones Company which employs labor. Its business comes within the new definition of interstate commerce and is therefore under the jurisdiction of NLRB. In addition it needs money to expand its operations and employ more men. Congress has authorized it to apply to RFC for a loan. The application is made, the loan granted, and the amount is to be disbursed to the Jones Company from time to time. Relying upon the granting of its loan, the Jones Company extends its operations and makes commitments for raw materials and other expenditures.

At that moment someone whispers to NLRB that the Jones Company has violated the Wagner Act. There is no proof that it has done so. There has been no hearing, no trial and perhaps not even a complaint has been filed by any responsible person. In this situation NLRB sends notice to RFC. RFC then cuts off Jones Company's credit.

It can readily be seen that in many, if not most cases, the cutting off of credit is a much more severe penalty than the fine prescribed by Congress if, in fact, a violation has taken place. It threatens the Company with financial ruin. Faced with ruin by this species of bureaucratic despotism the Jones Company may confess that it is guilty, however innocent it may be.

Every person who participated in this tyranny should immediately be required by the President of the United States to resign from public office.

Bernard Bryan, our new grocery manager, with his wife are now residents of the village moving their household goods here from Chillicothe. They occupy the second floor of the Hott dwelling on Long Street.

Winter is all over but the quitting, for sure now, a Darbyville community farmer telling us that he had seen two fine groundhogs that morning. And other reports by John Freeman, Walnut Township, of seeing both robins and red birds.

From a party who attended both of them comes the report that the public chattel sales of Charles Kellenberger, Walnut Township, and the Thrapp auction, Madison Township, Monday, were well attended and prices averaged fair.

John and Mrs. Sark and Mrs. John Hay whom we quoted Monday as "being home now soon" from their Texas trip, sort a sneak in on us Sunday, too late to connect up with our news. That long horned Texas steer which all the boys at headquarters had hoped John would bring along with him and which they'd get a good look at in the flesh, horns and all, did not materialize. John thinks a Jack Garner steer in his back yard this year will not thrive so well on elephant pasture.

The local sisterhood of the U. B. church met Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hickman on Station Street. It was both a business and social meeting. Nineteen members were in attendance. Two new members, Mrs. Rachel Moore and Mrs. Clyde Hickman, joined the organization. Two readings by Mrs. O. W. Smith and Mrs. Carrie Walden. A fine lunch was served by Mesdames Hickman, Dewey, Metz, McClurg and Lewis.

The February 29th birthday family, in our search for the memorial, seem to be not so plentiful. In the local school of some 300 kiddies, none "came over" on the 29th. Up to date, have found but one, Miss Fannie Hook who is celebrating on the 29th, for around the dozenth time. Grover Cline had a birthday Monday and, received many reminders of it in a card shower.

Yes, we know the weather man did a good job of covering things over with snow last night but just how many this is for the winter, can't tell except until we see the sign record clerk at headquarters—he'll know. But we know for sure that there must be about 20 to make it come out right. And with March and April ahead of us yet, the sign boys are most sure to win again.

May go out to school today and take a good inspection look at that new cup the boys brought home with 'em from Holland the other evening. We warned sometime ago about where "the bacon would land in February". So we can't be accused of stealin' anything.

Not all the styles for 1940 bathing suits have been revealed, a fashion expert points out. Don't worry, says Zadok Dumbkopf, when summer comes the bathing suits will do their own revealing.

SURPRISE SNOW COVERS CENTRAL PART OF STATE

Three Inch Fall Recorded In Circleville During Monday Night

ALL HIGHWAYS OPEN

Service Department Busy Keeping Traffic Moving In Uptown District

What was expected to be a light rainfall by weather forecasters turned into a surprise three inch blanket of snow, Monday night that covered the greater portion of central Ohio.

Highway department snowplows and trucks went to work immediately to keep the roads open. In Circleville the Service Department equipment was called out to combat the snow on the city's main thoroughfares.

No closed roads were reported by the highway department and the roads, although they aren't slick, should be driven over with care, they warned. The comparatively warm temperature of 32 kept the snow wet and it stuck where it fell. No drifts that had raised havoc during the last storm were reported. A lack of wind kept the snow from piling up.

County schools are all open and holding classes since snow drifts are not impeding buses.

The city service department and the state highway department reported cinderling and sanding operation have been started to forestall any potential accidents that might result from slick crossings.

By International News Service
Although temperatures ranged to 35 degrees, a blanket of snow that in some portions reached a depth of four or five inches covered Ohio today.

Concerted effort by highway department crews kept all main roads in the state open, but the highway patrol reported the wet snow was packing and made driving conditions extremely hazardous. The usual "extreme caution" warning was posted at all sub-stations.

Only light snow was reported in the Mt. Vernon-Zanesville-Coshocton area, while a deeper blanket covered the areas around Toledo, Defiance, Lima, Findlay, and Fremont.

Akron, East Liverpool and Hayesville reported a temperature of 24 degrees early today. Cleveland recorded a 25-degree mark; Toledo 26, Cambridge 28, Columbus 30, Dayton 33, and West Union and Cincinnati the high mark of 35 degrees.

Highway Division Forum Scheduled for March 6

Information and data about the Ohio department of highways and its manifold activities, will be given to the public by J. Perry Shumaker, division engineer, at an open forum in Delaware on Wednesday night, March 6.

At this forum gathering Mr. Shumaker expects to have present numerous high officials from the department's central office at Columbus, to make brief talks and to answer questions concerning the department which may be puzzling some motorists, and others interested in good roads.

This forum will mark the first time that the highway department has ever attempted a public conference where civic, educational and business leaders and others are taken into the confidence of state officials, with no holds barred.

The forum on Wednesday night, March 6, springs from the fact that the department will hold maintenance and construction "schools" for Division Six highway workers on Thursday and Friday, March 7 and 8, where improved practices among members of the field forces will be sought, and inefficient practices, weeded out.

These highway "schools" for the department's field forces are an annual event and are necessitated by rapidly technique in all phases of road engineering.

Many Discussions Booked
Details of the program are being worked out by Division Engineer Shumaker, but it is anticipated those attending the forum session will hear discussions of safety, traffic engineering in its human phases, landscape work, including possibilities of roadside parks on a broader scale, and general highway matters.

Highway planning, one of the more interesting topics of road construction, a phase of activity about which little is heard, will be one of the topics under discussion. Highway planning is a procedure being used more and more all the time in new construction, relocation and other department activities.

The counties which comprise Division Six are Marion, Monroe, Union, Delaware, Madison, Franklin, Pickaway and Fayette. One feature of the forum which Mr. Shumaker is planning is the bringing to Delaware of safety testing equipment designed especially by the highway department to determine certain features in the operation of an automobile.

There is a possibility that if Mr. Shumaker's efforts prove successful at this forum, it will be made an annual event. In his division. The novel idea of having state officials make a public accounting is expected to have beneficial result.

A QUIET WAR

THERE is much talk of "the European war" as if it were the beginning of a new "world war". But so far, there is no war over there except the marginal fight in Finland, and the sea struggle which also is remote.

On land, the great areas over which vast armies fought 25 years ago are still peaceful although many million men are under arms. There is only unimportant military and aerial sniping, to keep the armies from going to sleep. And in spite of the signs of activity in some areas lately, especially in the Near East, it is still uncertain whether there will be another military struggle between the rival powers.

What is going on is merely a siege of Germany by the Allies, with no real military effort on the part of the Germans to lift that siege. There has been little naval activity except by the British. The only defensive effort of importance on the German side has been aerial action against British and neutral shipping.

Military hell may break loose at any time, and the experts are expecting real action in the spring. But up to now, life on the continental "front" has been so dull that the troops are bored. And if such a situation lasted many more months, boredom itself might end the war.

FISH FOR TITICACA

AN attempt is being made to stock Lake Titicaca, on the border between Peru and Bolivia, with more valuable food fishes than are native to it. A shipment of two million whitefish eggs and hundreds of thousands of lake trout eggs in special containers has recently been sent from New York. The distance to be covered is 4,700 miles.

Lake Titicaca, 12,500 feet above sea level, is the world's highest body of water with steam navigation. It is mostly quite shallow, so that boats frequently run aground, yet there is one trough deep enough to cover all but a foot or two of the Eiffel Tower.

The water is extremely cold, even in midsummer, but never freezes. Travelers who can stand the altitude enjoy a wealth of unusual scenery from the deck of a boat, high up in the Andes. In addition to the magnificent mountain peaks there are Indian ruins, some of which are believed to have been left by a civilization preceding that of the Incas and Mayas. Some of us may be going there for a bit of fishing.

Turkey is certainly going modern. The government has started controlling prices. The price of Turkish goods used to be whatever anybody would pay.

Wouldn't it help matters a little in Vilpuri if Finnish planes would drop a few six-inch shells on Leningrad?

FEAR OF BATTLE VANISHES

WASHINGTON—Last summer the President moved heaven and earth to get Congress out of Washington before it passed the Barden amendments which he believed would emasculate one of his favorite measures—Wage-Hour Act.

When Congress adjourned without passing the amendments, Roosevelt's friends feared he might have even a tougher battle when Congress came back in January. However, Congress has been in session for two months and little has been heard of the amendments, although they can be called up any time under a House rule. Odds are the amendments will be dropped.

Number one reason for the change of heart by Wage-Hour critics is Colonel Philip Fleming.

Fleming, dapper little Army officer, assumed an appeaser's role after he succeeded Elmer Andrews as head of the agency. He reinterpreted certain sections of the act and quieted many critics, mainly in the South.

The cautious colonel privately has instructed his investigators to pass up any case when there is any doubt as to whether it comes under the act, and although this conservative policy has riled liberals and labor leaders who demand vigorous enforcement, their complaints to the White House have got nowhere.

NOTE—Another development is the fact that the author of the sweeping amendments, able Congressman Graham Barden of North Carolina, has cooled on the whole idea. He has had numerous conferences with Colonel Fleming and is working out ways and means by which all the Wage-Hour kinks can be ironed out administratively.

DEAF MAN'S TALE

Like his father, famed Thomas Edison, Charles Edison, hard-working secretary of the Navy, is slightly deaf.

Secretly Edison makes something of a joke of this infirmity, and likes to tell stories on himself. Best of these is regarding a Roosevelt cabinet meeting which was discussing the Arlington Radio station jutting into the air not far from the new Washington Gravelly Point airport, and which constitutes something of a hazard to aviators.

The question of 550 acres was mentioned, which brought an immediate remonstrance from Secretary Edison, who has charge of the Arlington Naval Radio station.

"But, gentlemen," he said, "we don't need that much acreage. What can a naval radio station do with 550 acres? We'd be accused of wasting the taxpayers' money. I must vigorously protest against it."

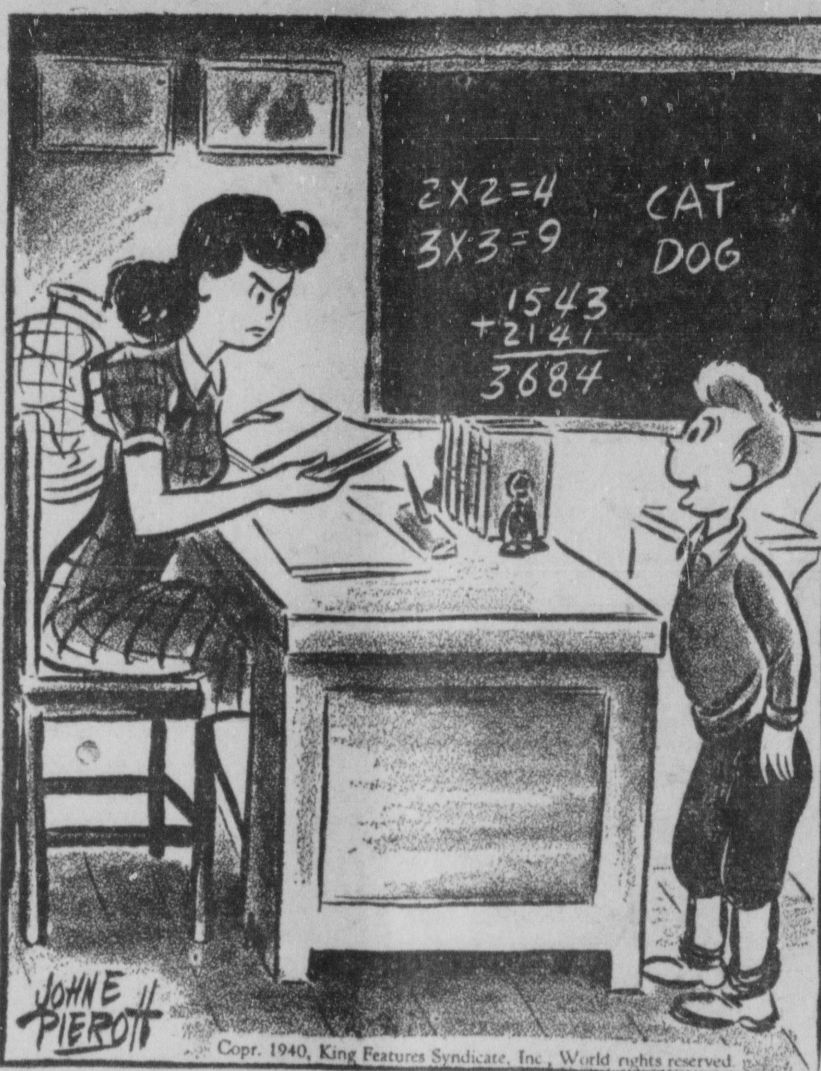

Edison says that he continued to talk about saving the taxpayers' money, and how the Navy didn't need 550 acres, and thought he was making an excellent speech. Then suddenly he noticed smiles on the faces of his cabinet colleagues.

Finally they let him in on the fact that the conversation had switched from the Arlington radio station to the Gravelly Point Airport, and that the 550 acres which he so vigorously opposed, in reality was needed for the airport.

Manipulating Cure In Low Back Pain

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

WE HAVE stated that modern study has pretty well proved that most cases of pain low in the back are due to sprain or relaxation of the joint between the sacrum and the pelvis. In the course of time the tendons and muscles around this joint get into a state of spasm and this acts as a vicious circle. The use of manipulations, as recently emphasized by Dr. J. J. F. St. Louis, has given remarkable relief to many of these sufferers.

The manipulations are performed without the use of an anesthetic and should be followed up by quite a period of hospital rest in bed, and by the use of light and other forms of heat. Re-education of the patient, especially in avoiding movements which may suddenly throw strain on the back, is an essential part of the treatment because it has been found that these patients through ignorance constantly make motions which exaggerate damage already done and cause recurrences.

Patient on Floor

The manipulations are done with the patient on the floor, lying face down on a thin pad. In this position it is easy to see where strain due to posture has caused spasm, and the muscles around the hips and the heavy muscles on each side of the spine, and the muscles in the region of the shoulder, should be massaged and pulled.

The next maneuver is to put the patient on the side, pull the shoulders and push the pelvis in the opposite direction. This, when done for the first time, often causes a snapping sound due to the replacement of the articulation or to the readjustment of the fascia. It also stretches the ligaments and separates the joint.

Next the leg is lifted while stiff, with the patient lying on the face—first one leg and then the other. These manipulations are done with a good deal of force.

The patient is then lifted from the floor by the middle so he is in a fold-up position, which mobilizes the sacro-iliac joint. With the patient on the back, the leg is raised.

Breakfast: Orange juice, bacon and egg; one slice toast and butter; coffee with teaspoonful cream and one lump of sugar.

keeping the knee straight with the other hand.

After this series of manipulations, which are quite severe, the patient is put to bed with a light on the back in order to gain time for relaxation of the sprained joint. The patient is then taught how to stand up from a sitting position. Many backaches are due to repeated improper movement. The good leg is put forward and hands are placed on the knee; then the knees are straightened.

People with this trouble should be taught how to get in and out of bed. The hands and right knee are first placed on the bed, making support for the left leg to come up from the floor. They then lie down and roll over.

This all may seem unnecessary emphasis, but in orthopedic disability the little things are the ones that count.

CHAPTER FORTY

AN HOUR later, Cholly held out her hand to Terry on the street by the bus.

"Goodbye, Terry," she said, tears filling her throat. "I'll always be wishing you luck."

"I'll drop you a Christmas card." Terry tried to grin. "And if you decide to marry that guy Hayworth, I hope all your children have red hair."

"So you don't wish me luck after all?" Cholly made an attempt to match his gaiety.

She stepped onto the bus, turning her face to hide the tears that blinded her eyes.

"Goodbye, Terry! Be seel' you."

He stood bareheaded, his face etched with longing. Then, turning swiftly, he walked down the street to the cafe where he sang.

Romany looked up from her book when Cholly opened the door.

"Well!" Cholly threw her coat onto a chair and sat down. "It's all over. So you see, you had nothing to fear."

"I'm glad," Romany sighed with relief. "I know it wasn't easy for you, darlin'. But we won't talk about it any more. Dove called. I allayed his suspicions by telling him you were doing a little unfinished business. Which was perfectly true."

Before Cholly could answer, there was the unmistakable sound of a key in the lock.

"Who is it?" Romany jumped up, calling in alarm.

"Surprise!"

The door flew open and a vision in sables confronted the two amazed girls.

"Aunt Cissie!" Romany cried happily. "Aunt Cecelia!"

Cissie opened her arms and ran to her eagerly.

"Hello, darlings!" Her aunt laughed. "I thought I'd surprise you for Thanksgiving."

Romany hugged and kissed her rapturously. Then Cholly was embraced by her hostess. Cecelia was followed by her maid, Gretchen, and the chauffeur, Hanover, who came in through the kitchen.

Things didn't begin to settle down to normal for a half hour, as trunks, boxes and bags were put into their proper places. Gretchen began getting some of her mistress' things unpacked so that she would be properly cared for until the next day. Cissie would not permit Cholly and Romany to move their things from the big room overlooking the lake.

"I'm partial to the guest quarters anyway," Cecelia graciously assured them. She had slipped into a negligee of white chiffon and relaxed on the divan in the library before the open fire.

"Oh, lordie!" she sighed luxuriously. "It's grand to be back in these United States!"

Then she moved her pillows so that she could look at the two girls sitting, wide-eyed and worshipful, nearby.

"Well, bless my old buttons!" Cissie shook her head then in wonderment. "If you two kids haven't given me the surprise of my life! Every time I picked up an American radio magazine in Europe, I saw one of your pictures staring at me. Finally, I decided everybody must be sick of my bragging that one was my niece and the other a girl I'd known since she was a day old. So I decided to come home and get in on some of the excitement."

"It's been like a dream," Romany sighed happily. "And everything happened so fast it's made me dizzy."

"And all because you met that announcer at the station, wasn't it?" Cecelia beamed. "From your letters I decided he must be your steady."

Words of Wisdom

A conservative is a man who will not look at a new moon, out of respect for that "ancient institution," the old one.—Jerold.

Today's Horoscope

Those who are celebrating birthdays today must be prepared to face difficulties and opposition in the year just starting. They should not allow themselves to be overcome by these perplexities, however, as they may be overcome by fortitude and industry, which will bring promotion and advancement. A child born on this date will be of a reversed nature, subtle and determined. Also of somewhat passionate and jealous disposition. Such a personality would best win success in medicine or chemistry.

"I guess you'd call him that. He's pretty devoted."

"And how about the writer who coached you? Does he drop around?"

"Once in a while," Romany shrugged, "when I round him up by force. He's been having a run of bad luck and the masculine pride is itching him. Cholly," Romany grinned, "is practically married to the Hayworth syrup millions."

Cecelia seemed delighted.

"I see by the papers, Cholly, that Dove Hayworth has been devoted to you. What does mama say about his falling in love with an actress?" Cholly winced, and her cheeks grew pink.

"I haven't had the pleasure of meeting the lady. But I'm told she says plenty. I've sent word to her, though, that her son is perfectly safe in so far as I'm concerned."

"Oh," Cissie scoffed, "don't let a little thing like Carrie Hayworth stand in your way of marrying a millionaire! Carrie does a lot of barking, but her bark is much worse than her bite. I've met her a few times at parties. She's not a bad sort. I'm just doing to meet all the boy friends. You must bring them around."

"Do you mean it?" Romany asked, surprised.

"What do you think I came home for," Cissie smiled, looking very young and beautiful in the light from the fire. "Through the lines I've been smelling blossoms and lots of fun. Would you like it?"

"I'd love it," Romany sighed happily. "Wouldn't we, Cholly?"

"Of course," Cholly said, a little uncomfortably. "But I'll be finding an apartment now."

Cecelia sat up hurriedly.

"You will not! And don't let me hear you talking about it, my dear. You stay right where you are. How can I keep an eye on your romance with Dove Hayworth if you aren't here where I can meddle in your affairs?"

was surprised.

QUARTET OF GUESTS

Brian Donlevy, Patricia Morrison, both of the films and the piano team of Vronsky and Babin will check into the Music Hall for exactly one hour on Thursday, February 29. Host Bing Crosby will head the reception committee consisting of such well-known personages as Robin Burns, the Music Males and John Scott Trotter's orchestra, for the broadcast over the NBC red network at 10.

After playing the part of the tough dance-hall operator in the hit picture, "Destry Rides Again," Brian Donlevy decided on a program of relaxation. He'll be perfectly at ease in an interview with Bing and Bob who made him promise to leave his shooting irons at home.

Old favorites are Vronsky and Babin who manage to coax rare harmony out of a pair of pianos. Miss Vronsky is really Mrs. Babin but both feel "Vronsky and Babin" sounds better professionally than "Mr. and Mrs. Babin."

Bing gives out vocally on "In An Old Dutch Garden," "Devil May Care," "Say Si Si," "Beautiful Dreamer," and for his 1850 memory song, "Camp Town Races." John Scott Trotter's orchestra does a special arrangement of "18th Century Drawing Room."

HEIDT MAKING PLANS

Although Horace Heidt and his orchestra already have coast to coast tour commitments to keep them busy for at least two months, plans already are rolling in Hollywood for their forthcoming movie, "The Pot of Gold."

James Roosevelt, Hollywood executive and son of the President, is the man who jumped on the "Pot of Gold" idea when he noted the sensational rise of the radio program in listener popularity. Current plans are to base the film exactly on the "Pot of Gold" as it works on the air with music by the Horace Heidt band.

Meanwhile the "Pot of Gold" itself continues as a great radio hit on the NBC-Red network each Tuesday at 8:30 p. m.

RADIO NEWS NOTES

The major comedians missing from radio this season all have plans for Broadway musicals. They include Ed Wynn, Jimmy Durante, Al Jolson, Joe Cook, Jack Haley, Sid Silvers and W. C. Fields.

Artists Bureaus of both NBC and CBS are backing road shows of legit plays. CBS plans to send them on 60 one-nighters next season.

Vera Vague has given up her other radio shows on the west coast to come east with Edgar Bergen.

Other commitments have forced the cancellation of Ezra Stone's proposed appearance on the Kate Smith Hour March 8. The star of "The Aldrich Family" is in the midst of a personal appearance tour which probably will have him out of New York on that date.

The Andrews Sisters, who were due to bow off the Glenn Miller show after their first 13 weeks, will probably continue, going on tour with Miller's orchestra.

Although he planned to do nothing but his broadcasts while in Florida, Kay Kyser has weakened to the point of scheduling several one-nighters around Miami.

His work on the first "Lunch-eon at the Waldorf" airing on NBC was so impressive that Frank Luther, starred in "Songs of America" now has two sponsors talking terms.

Margaret Lindsay was the 100th Hollywood name to be signed for an appearance on the George Jessel "Celebrity Program."

EX-PUGILIST, 24, GOES ON TRIAL IN NAZI DEATH

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 — Testimony was to begin today in the trial of Ernie Haas, 24, a pugilist, who is charged with the death of Dr. Walter Engelberg, 42, first secretary of the German consulate, last December 6.

The jury to try Haas was finally completed shortly before midnight after hours of tedious prosecution questioning of prospective jurors concerning their sentiments about Nazism. All those who admitted that dislike of the Nazi regime would prejudice their judgment were excused.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27—Signor Ernesto Natali Lombardi, the sleeping beauty of Crosley Field, Cincinnati, signed his 1940 contract in Tampa yesterday. ## PURDUE CERTAIN OF LEAGUE TIE

Boilermakers Need Single Victory For Undisputed Championship

CHICAGO, Feb. 27—Assured of at least a share in the Big Ten basketball title for the fifth time in seven years, Purdue today needed only one more victory in its two remaining games to earn exclusive rights to the championship.

The Boilermakers put an indelible claim on conference honors last night by defeating Iowa, 50-29, for their ninth win in ten games, while Indiana was losing to an inspired Ohio State quintet, 44-26.

Illinois kept its mathematical chances of sharing in the title alive by downing a rebellious Chicago team, 42-40, and is tied for the runnerup post with Indiana and Ohio with seven victories and three defeats.

In the other conference games last night, Michigan staved off a desperate Northwestern rally to win, 39-34, and Minnesota beat Wisconsin, 44-39.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 27 — Flashing the speed, power and spirit that carried them to a Conference crown last season, Ohio State's basketball team, by handing Indiana a stunning and decisive 44-26 beating, were in a second-place tie in the Big Ten today.

The Bucks, after the first ten minutes, never left the issue in doubt. They piled in basket after basket to lead 21-15 at the half. And while State's Gil Mickelson was leading the scoring parade with 15 markers, Ohio's Capt. Bob Lynch held Paul Armstrong, Indiana's classy point-maker, to exactly two points.

By the victory, the Bucks maintained a slim mathematical chance to tie for the 1940 title. Now in a second-place dead-lock with Indiana and Illinois, the Bucks must defeat Michigan and Indiana this week while the leading Purdue quintet is dropping its remaining games with Indiana and Illinois.

MUSKIES RETAIN CHANCE TO WIN LEAGUE HONORS

COLUMBUS, Feb. 27 — With their 48-38 victory over Otterbein, the Muskingum basketball team today maintained a very slim chance of capturing the Ohio Conference championship. The win gave the Muskies a season record of 11 wins against a single loss.

Should Wooster's Scots, now leading the parade with 12 victories and no defeats, drop their tilt with Oberlin Thursday, the Muskies could cop the hunting by taking over the Scots when the two squads tangle Saturday in what should be the game of the year.

However, Oberlin's record of only two wins hardly allows them on the same floor as the high-flying Wooster lads, although anything can happen in basketball.

John Carroll added another game to the right side of the ledger when they hung up a 35-32 victory over Kent state in the only other conference game.

DePAUL TAKES L. I. U.

CHICAGO, Feb. 27—De Paul's Demons boasted a victory over one of the East's best basketball teams today after taking Long Island University into camp last night, 44-36. Long Island, which defeated De Paul in New York last week, held a 23-15 advantage at halftime. The eastern team previously had been beaten only by Southern California and Duquesne in 21 games. De Paul's season record is 19 victories and four losses.

CLARKSBURG TO TANGLE WITH FAIRFIELD QUINT

Clarksburg, coached by Bob Terhune, is paired with the strong Fairfield (Leesburg) team of Highland County in the first round of the southeastern cage tournament to be played in the Waverly gym. The contest is booked at 10 o'clock Saturday night. Clarksburg won the Ross County tournament.

Teams from Ross, Pike, Scioto, Adams, Lawrence, Ross, Fayette and Highland are eligible to participate.

65 PERSONS AT JOINT MEETING OF COMMITTEES

J. F. Mader And T. D. Krinn To Attend District Conference

CAMPAIGN IS DISCUSSED

Candidates To Be Informed Of Proper Methods To Conduct Campaigns

Pickaway County Democratic committees, executive and central, met Monday evening in a joint session that was described by chairmen as being filled with harmony and interest. Sixty-five members of the two committees were present, the session being held in the Common Pleas room of the courthouse.

The committees chose five delegates and five alternates to attend the state Democratic convention to be held soon in Columbus. The delegates include John F. Mader, executive committee chairman; C. W. Helvering, central committee chairman; T. D. Krinn, O. M. Beckett and J. B. Cromley and alternates, Wayne Brown, Orrin Updyke, John Himrod, Mayor W. B. Cady and Karl Hermann. Mr. Mader and Mr. Krinn, the latter secretary of the executive committee, were nominated by the committees to attend a meeting in Lancaster this week at which time delegates and alternates from the 11th Ohio Congressional district will be determined. Mader and Krinn will represent Pickaway County at the meeting.

Mr. Mader said that many of the present central committeemen are preparing to file their petitions for reelection subject to the primary. Places of persons who do not intend to run for the committee again will be filled by capable persons, Mr. Mader declared.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

of George Washington's surprise letter in defense of a third term is that President Roosevelt knew of its existence two years ago. However, he never mentioned it, though New Deal intimates who have come out for a third term would have given their eyeteeth for such a potent weapon.

A photostat of the letter from Washington to Lafayette was first sent to Roosevelt on Washington's birthday in 1938 by George L. Rees, Brooklyn, N. Y. historian and collector of rare documents.

"I wanted to smoke him out," recalls Rees. "But it was no soap. He only sent me a polite note thanking me for the 'original greetings'. I waited, thinking some of his friends might get hold of the letter and publish it, but nothing happened."

Rees waited two years and then made a second attempt to gain national recognition for the precious manuscript which he had unearthed from the dusty files of the library of Congress. He walked into a New York newspaper office with his find and shyly asked if it would not be timely to publish it in view of the third term furore.

The letter made headlines; for the refusal of President Washington to accept a third term set a hitherto unbroken precedent, and the note to Lafayette repudiated this accepted theory.

"I can see no propriety," he wrote to General Lafayette, "in precluding ourselves from the services of any man, who in some great emergency, shall be deemed, universally, most capable of serving the public."

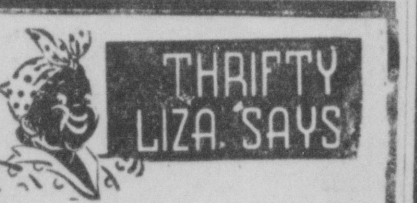

How Rees discovered the letter is a story in itself.

Because there were no organized political parties in Washington's day and in view of his known predilection of exceptional men in the public service, the 60-year-old Brooklyn historian says he "could not conceive of George Washington opposing a good president from continuing in office for three terms."

Acting on this hunch, he spent days combing through hundreds of Washington's letters in the manuscript section of the library. The task seemed hopeless until he found the First President's ancient, leather-bound letter copy book. Under date of April 28, 1788, while Washington was living in post-war retirement at Mount Vernon, Rees found the letter he was looking for.

COLUMBUS HAS RELIEF CRISIS; BILLS OVERDUE

COLUMBUS, Feb. 27.—In an effort to stave off suits by the city's grocers, who hold relief warrants for nearly $300,000, Mayor Floyd Green and other city officials met today in an attempt to find money with which to meet the outstanding vouchers.

The city auditor's office notified the mayor that it feared the Columbus Retail Grocers' Association would institute suit on the warrants after an Association protest, last week apparently had gone unheeded.

The city council last night shelved a plan advanced by Councilman Arvin J. Alexander asking the county to divert auto license tag revenues to relief since city and county officials have worked out a cooperative WPA work relief program.

Mayor Green was strongly in favor of some solution to the problem.

MOTORIST, 23, JAILED

Russell George, 23, York Street, was sent to the county jail Monday night when he failed to pay the fine of $10 and costs levied by Mayor William Cady at his hearing on charges of speeding. ## BRICKER CALLS RELIEF CONFAB FOR NEXT WEEK

COLUMBUS, Feb. 27.—Informed that Cleveland faced a relief fund shortage of $1,500,000 in 1940 despite a sharp increase in employment, Governor Bricker today called a conference of state, municipal and WPA officials for Monday to discuss possible methods of alleviating the situation.

The meeting is to be held at 2 p. m. Monday in the office of State Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood. An increased WPA highway program is expected to be proposed to put to work a sizeable portion of the 60,000 persons now on relief in Cleveland.

At a meeting late yesterday with the governor, Mayor Harold H. Burton, of Cleveland, revealed that present estimates indicated the relief fund would be short approximately $1,500,000. Needs for the year are estimated at $6,500,000.

Burton declared that unemployment in the Lake Erie metropolis had dropped from a peak of 220,000 in 1933 to 109,000 this month. In July, 1938, he said, there were 210,000 out of work.

"But that hasn't taken people off the relief rolls," Burton explained. "The employment increase has been among skilled workers. We still have to take care of 22,000 cases, or about 60,000 persons."

He said that at present 35,000 persons were employed on WPA projects, but many of those were given partial relief during January and February because inclement weather kept them from working.

FIRE AT WEILER HOME

A fire which was easily extinguished by the firemen and which caused negligible damage broke out in the home of E. W. Weiler, Watt Street, at 7 p. m. Monday. ## BRITAIN SEIZES SOLON TO DEFY HUGE SHIPMENT CENSUS; MONEY VOTED IN HOUSE

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 — The largest seizure of United States trans-Atlantic air mail since censorship began last January 18 was made by British authorities yesterday when the American clipper landed at Bermuda from Baltimore enroute to the Azores and Lisbon, the New York Journal and American reported it had learned today.

British authorities on Darrell's Island removed a total of 1800 of the 4,000 pounds of air mail from America aboard the huge flying boat, according to the Journal and American.

Although officials of Pan American Airways, which operated the twice-weekly trans-Atlantic service, declined to comment, the report of the large seizure of mail addressed to Germany was confirmed by the highest authorities, the Journal and American stated.

F. D. R., BRICKER REGIMES FACE TEST AT POLLS

McGregor Carries Backing Of Governor; Ashbrook Of New Deal

MRS. BOLTON FAVORED

Democrats Play Expense Of Special Elections, Hit Executive's Order

COLUMBUS, Feb. 27—Two special congressional elections were held in Ohio today with eyes of the state and nation focused on the 17th District, for there the voting has been billed as a test of New Deal strength and also that of the Bricker state administration.

Urging the election of State Rep. J. Harry McGregor in the politically uncertain 17th, G. O. P. State Chairman Ed Schorr said a Republican victory would "be a severe blow to New Dealers and the third term ambitions of the President."

McGregor, an uncompromising New Deal foe, opposed Byron Ashbrook, a Democrat and nephew of the late Congressman William A. Ashbrook (D) whose unexpired term the winner will serve.

Since Governor John W. Bricker, a dark horse G. O. P. presidential possibility, campaigned for his close political ally, McGregor, Republican whip in the Ohio house of representatives, some observers expected the outcome to indicate the degree of public acceptance of the Bricker legislative program.

Mrs. Bolton Favored

The other special election was in the normally Republican 22nd District which only once, in the 1936 Roosevelt landslide, elected a Democratic congressman. There Mrs. Frances Payne Bolton, (R), widow of the late Rep. Chester C. Bolton, opposed Democratic Anthony Flegler for her husband's unexpired term. If elected, Mrs. Bolton would be Ohio's first woman in congress.

The 17th District in the last three biennial elections has elected a Democratic congressman while returning majorities for G. O. P. gubernatorial candidates in 1934 and 1938 and for the Democratic nominee in 1936.

Democrats, citing the dearth of local relief funds in many counties, severely criticized Gov. Bricker for calling the two special elections, the cost of which must be borne by the nine counties affected. But Bricker, answering the charge that he was playing politics, contended the state constitution made the elections mandatory.

"Intimidation" Charged

IRENE'S REMARKS ABOUT HATS RESULTS IN SUIT

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 27—Irene Castle McLaughlin, the former dancer, was made defendant today in a $150,000 damage suit brought by Sonya Zaranof, Hollywood milliner, who alleged Miss Castle had made slanderous remarks about her hats.

"Her (Miss Zaranof's) hats are terrible," the complaint charged Miss Castle with declaring. Since the former dancer is an authority on fashions, such a remark, the complaint related, caused Miss Zaranof great financial loss.

In her answer, Miss Castle stated Miss Zaranof was once employed by her to design hats and that when a business firm asked her as to the ability of Miss Zaranof, she rendered an honest opinion without ill will.

He said that the stage at the Main Street bridge at noon Tuesday was 4.34 feet and that the river was rising.

HOT FINN-RED BATTLE RAGING

Far North Reported To Be Struggle Scene; Viborg Area Still Held

HELSINKI, Feb. 27 — While the admitted loss of Koivisto fortress brought additional Soviet pressure on the city of Viborg, Finland's weary defenders today clung grimly to their newly assumed second line positions in the Mannerheim Line as they fought off continued Russian assaults.

While the war-weary Finnish forces kept up the struggle in the Karelian Isthmus, reports received via Kirkenes, Norway, told of a new violent battle raging in far northern Finland near Høyenjaervi.

Soviet planes were said to have engaged Finnish fighting craft for the first time in this sector since the war began. Heavy land fighting also was reported in progress.

In addition, lively activity also was reported on the Kuhmo section of the eastern frontier.

Norwegians See Battle

The Kirkenes reports stated that the aerial battle over Høyenjaervi was witnessed by residents of the Norwegian battle area, who reported violent encounters between Finnish pursuit planes and Russian bombers which supported the Soviet ground attack.

It could not be learned whether the positions on the Kuhmo and Høyenjaervi fronts had been altered as a result of the battles.

GERMAN PLANES DOWNED IN TRIP OVER BRIT AREA

LONDON, Feb. 27—British planes shot down two German bombers off the East Coast of Britain today, according to the British air ministry.

Two separate communiques were issued. One stated:

The first communique stated: "A Royal Air Force fighter command patrol engaged and shot down a Heinkel plane off the mouth of Firth of Forth shortly before 1 p. m."

Earlier the air ministry announced widespread flights by British warplanes over German territory and defenses, stating the British aircraft penetrated as far as Berlin.

Congressman Harold Claypool announced Tuesday that Federal WPA had approved expenditure of $157,724 to help finance a blanket project for Pickaway County.

The money is designated for improvement of county-owned roads and streets, city-owned streets in Circleville and village-owned streets in Ashville and Williamsport.

Harry Griner, county engineer, was pleased to hear that the blanket program had won approval. He said that work had already been started on it and that it will continue for six months employing about 450 men.

Griner declared that the project called for improvements of roads, bridges, berms and anything else that had to do with travel.

Twenty-five percent of the expense of the project is paid by the county commissioners.

PARIS, Feb. 27—Citizens of Paris have suffered their first casualties of the war, it was disclosed today with renewal of German aerial activity in the vicinity of the capital.

Correspondents were permitted to cable abroad the fact that six persons were injured, one seriously, in the streets of Paris yesterday by shrapnel resulting from anti-aircraft fire directed at an undisclosed number of Nazi planes which appeared over the city.

This firing proved that the Germans were continuing their reconnaissance flights over the environs (Continued on Page Two)

British Lose Steamer; Reports of Major Sea Fight Are Unconfirmed

LONDON, Feb. 27—Loss of the 5,936-ton British steamer Clan Morrison, which struck a mine in the North Sea, was announced today as authorities indicated that Germany's submarine warfare appears to be waning.

One member of the Clan Morrison's crew was killed and 15 were injured when the mine exploded, authorities said.

At the same time it was stated officially that four British and three neutral merchant ships totalling 26,628 tons were sunk by enemy action during the week ending February 25.

This announcement said the burst of German U-boat activity appeared to have spent itself and that British warships prevented the scuttling of the German vessel Wahehe, which was brought into a British port.

Meanwhile, the admiralty offered no comment regarding unconfirmed reports of a naval engagement in the Arctic Ocean off Petsamo in which two German steamers were said to have been sunk or captured by allied warships.

British naval circles, however, commented that the reports of a naval battle off Petsamo were a "deliberate German attempt to obtain information as to whether or (Continued on Page Two)

Taylor, Personal Envoy Of President To Vatican, Talks With Pope 35 Minutes; Nazis Press Reds To Mediate War

MOSCOW REPORTED WILLING TO TALK

Russian Fear Of Trouble With Powers Of West Cited; Bitter Fighting Goes On In Finland's Northern Region

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE
Peace efforts—faced with formidable odds—held the European spotlight today as events began moving forward at an increased tempo following American Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles' conversation with Premier Mussolini.

While diplomatic circles in Rome buzzed with speculation regarding the "autographed message" from President Roosevelt that Welles handed to Il Duce, the American diplomat worked quietly in the United States embassy, drawing up reports on his conversation with the Italian dictator and foreign minister.

It was indicated that Welles will stop off at Berne, Switzerland, en route to Berlin for conferences with Swiss government authorities.

At the same time, Pope Pius XII received Myron C. Taylor, President Roosevelt's "peace envoy" to the Vatican. Taylor conferred with the Pope for 35 minutes, handling over an autographed letter from the American President. The entire ceremony made it clear that Taylor is acting only as the American President's personal envoy.

Finn War To End?

While deep secrecy surrounded whatever peace efforts Welles may be initiating, a move for termination of the Russo-Finnish war appeared to be well under way.

Reports from both Copenhagen and Stockholm said that Germany was extremely active in pressing Moscow to accept mediation of the conflict and that the Soviets were bending a receptive ear to this suggestion now that the Red army is scoring successes against Finland.

The Stockholm dispatch, quoting reports from Moscow, pointed out that Moscow is anxious to avoid the danger of becoming involved in the war between the Western European powers.

Fighting continued in Finland on a major scale as Finnish troops clung grimly to their latest positions in the Mannerheim Line following the admitted loss of the vital Koivisto fortress. It appeared to be only a matter of time before the Russians would be able to capture the ruined city of Viborg.

At the same time, other advices received in Helsinki told of bitter fighting in the Far North near Høyenjaervi which included a large-scale aerial engagement.

The Moscow communique told of continued advances on the Karelian Isthmus and claimed that 19 Finnish warplanes had been shot down.

Both the French and German war communiques were non-committal, but Paris reported air raid alarms over the French capital and the sound of bursting anti-aircraft shells.

London's air ministry announced that the Royal Air Force carried out widespread reconnaissance flights over the Reich and that some British planes even penetrated to Berlin. All the British aircraft returned safely, the announcement said.

LOCKHEED READY TO BEGIN DELIVERY OF FAST PLANE

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 27 — Delivery of the fastest military planes in the world, constructed for the U. S. Army Air Corps, will begin shortly, Robert E. Gross, president of the Lockheed Aircraft Company, said today.

Top speed is more than 420 miles an hour. The planes were accepted for army use after a trial flight a year ago in which Lieut. B. S. Kalsey flew one of them from March Field to Mitchell Field, Long Island, in 7 hours, 45 minutes and 36 seconds, not far behind the transcontinental record of 7 hours, 25 minutes and 25 seconds.

A $10,000,000 order has been placed, and planes are being built on a production schedule which will assure delivery ahead of time.

Ted Lewis (Theodore Friedman) will appear as guest star Tuesday at 9 p. m. over WBNB, Columbus, on the program, "We, the People." The program originates in New York, being conducted by Gabriel Heatter.

Doridal Ceremony Stripped Of Many Formalities; Confab 35 Minutes

WELLES WILL RETURN

Emissary To Europe Keeps In Touch With Chief, Secretary Hull

ROME, Feb. 27.—Myron C. Taylor, President Roosevelt's personal "peace envoy" to the Vatican, presented his credentials to Pope Pius XII today in a cordial ceremony stripped of some of the usual formalities.

The private audience was held at the Vatican while diplomatic circles in Rome buzzed with speculation as to the nature of the "autographed message" American Under Secretary of State Sumner Welles yesterday handed to Premier Mussolini. Ignoring the excitement, Welles worked quietly at the United States Embassy.

Taylor's audience with the pontiff lasted 35 minutes. It began with Taylor handing over an "autographed letter" from President Roosevelt to his Holiness in which Taylor was formally presented as the American President's personal ambassador.

This, Vatican circles emphasized, did not constitute "formal diplomatic credentials." Formal speeches and other usual ceremonial details of the presentation of an envoy to the pontiff did not take place.

Mission of Importance

Commenting on the simplicity of the audience, a high Vatican prelate said:

"The pomp this time is in the heart of everyone in the Vatican conscious of the importance of Mr. Taylor's mission."

At termination of the audience the Pope asked Taylor to convey his "affectionate wishes to President Roosevelt and the great American people, whom I am able personally and closely to appreciate."

Welles in a conference with American correspondents announced he would return to Italy after a tour of other European capitals and said he expected to confer with Premier Mussolini again. He said he plans to arrive in Berlin March 1.

First, he declared he will stop in Switzerland for personal reasons and confer with the American minister at Bern. He added:

"I am deeply grateful for the courtesies shown by the Italian government and I found my conversations with Premier Mussolini and Foreign Minister Count Ciano very helpful."

France After Berlin

Welles revealed that after going to Berlin, where the length of his stay has not been determined, he plans to go to France via Switzerland.

He disclaimed knowledge of any new Hitler peace project and declined to comment on the nature of his Rome conversations.

Welles stated he was keeping in touch with President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull and indicated that at present he does not plan to visit Pope Pius on his return to Rome.

During the morning he received various neutral diplomats, especially Latin American envoys.

Aided by secretaries and members of his entourage, Welles kept busy drawing up reports of his talks yesterday.

Welles is scheduled to leave Rome about midnight for Germany.

All the information given out about Welles' visit so far has stressed the cordiality of his conversations with Mussolini and Count Ciano. The communique regarding his talk with Il Duce merely said:

"Premier Mussolini received Mr. Welles in the presence of Count Ciano and Ambassador Phillips (the American envoy). Mr. Welles delivered the autographed message from President Roosevelt. The conversation, which was very cordial, lasted one hour."

No explanation of the reason for Welles' plans to go to Berlin via Switzerland, probably stopping at Bern, was forthcoming from official quarters.

But the newspaper Popolo Di Roma, in a dispatch from Bern, predicted that Welles' conversations in Rome would result in improvement of American trade relations with Italy and other neutral nations.

MOVE TO ADD NEW SET OF CANAL LOCKS LOSES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—In a surprise move the powerful house appropriations committee today balked at President Roosevelt's $14,150,000 budget request to start construction of a third set of locks for the Panama Canal, and struck it from the War Department's annual civil functions appropriation bill.

Viborg, the country's second city, to the invading Russians—but only after it has been reduced to "scorched earth cursed by God"

—were supported by later reports that Finnish civilians were preparing to evacuate Sakkiakervi, opposite Viborg across Viborg Bay.

It was believed that this point will be cleared of all civilians who now are exposed to direct artillery bombardment as the Soviet pressure against the Viborg area increases.

Batteries Destroyed

In keeping with the Finnish policy of leaving nothing useful to the Russians behind them, the forces that withdrew from the Koivisto fortress blew up the huge artillery batteries there before abandoning them.

Then they retreated on skis in small groups across the bay. The Finnish high command ordered abandonment of the fortress after choosing to save the men stationed there rather than have them continue to harry the Russians until they were finally overwhelmed and annihilated.

Members of the Finnish garrison were nearly trapped by a fissure in the ice in front of the village of Koivisto directly under the Russian guns as they fled across the bay, it was learned.

But just before dawn the fissure closed, allowing them to reach safety without being detected by the Soviets in the darkness. Incessant Russian aerial attacks on the Koivisto fortress were responsible for making the Finns withdraw.

Russian planes were increasing in active over southern Finland. There were three air raid alarms at Helsinki, but no bombs were dropped there. Several southern Finnish towns were bombed but only a few persons were killed and damage was slight.

in the Census Act of 1929 for refusal to answer questions applying to individuals and their families. The 1940 census begins April 1.

Reed, veteran New York Republican legislator and one-time Cornell football hero, objected especially to questions in the proposed housing census relating to value of property, amount of mortgage payments, interest rates and other questions relating to income.

"I speak only for myself, and wife," said Reed. "They have placed questions in the census which go beyond the authority granted by congress in enacting legislation for the taking of the census."

Despite a fight by Reed and others, the house today sent to the senate a $90,000,000 deficiency bill which includes $5,000,000 for the taking of the housing census.

Yesterday, the house first adopted an amendment abolishing the penalty on citizens refusing to answer questions, but later reversed itself by a record vote of 196 to 139.

WALLACE VOICES PLEA FOR TRADE TREATY'S O.K.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Secretary of Agriculture Wallace told congress today that the administration's reciprocal trade treaty program must be extended as a "foundational stone" for world trade revival in the future.

Appearing as a witness before the senate finance committee holding hearings on the house-approved resolution to extend the trade treaty law three years, Wallace said abandonment of the program when the existing law expires June 12 would put the United States "in an impossible situation."

Contrary to opposition "propaganda," the agriculture department chief declared, interests of the domestic farmer have been amply protected under the trade agreement program.

"Where imports have been high," he said, "prices have been high."

Tariff reduction under the treaty, asserted the witness, made up only 14 percent of total agricultural imports in 1937. And about half of the 14 percent, he added, comprised sugar imports, which are limited under a quota system.

These flights are being made, a military spokesman said, in obvious retaliation for allied operations.

He said that groups of German aircraft—groups consisting of five or more planes from which there is danger of aerial bombardment—caused sporadic air raid alarms all over northern and central France from 9 o'clock last night to 6 a. m. today.

There was also considerable activity in the Paris region.

Just before dawn today an hour-long air raid warning was sounded in Paris but there were no developments. Eight hours earlier, however, French anti-aircraft guns and pursuit planes beat off two German planes which had penetrated over the French capital.

not there are British naval units in that area."

"It is not the intention of the admiralty to satisfy their curiosity," these sources added.

A Reuters dispatch from Copenhagen said the harbor master at Vardoe, the northern-most point in Norway, declared he had seen no warships and heard no gunfire.

Likewise, the dispatch said, the Norwegian admiralty had received no news of a sea battle in the Petsamo area.

An International News Service dispatch from Copenhagen said that according to unconfirmed rumors there, a sea fight occurred off Petsamo between allied warships and German vessels.

One version of the incident was that the Anglo-French vessels had captured or sunk two German freighters.

A similar Copenhagen dispatch to the London News Chronicle said the reports of the supposed sea battle originated from Vardoe, northwest of the Finnish Petsamo fjord.

A different version was given in a Reuters dispatch from Oslo, which stated that nothing was known in the Norwegian capital of any naval battle between British and German warships in the Arctic.

Authoritative quarters in London were unable to provide any confirmation of a report that two German vessels had been sunk during an engagement in the Petsamo region.

F. D.'S STATE SOLONS OPPOSE ANOTHER TERM

Resolution Approved By New York Senate Would Halt Possibility

SESSION TURBULENT ONE

Dewey Comes In For His Share Of Criticism During Meeting

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 27 — A resolution opposing a third term for President Roosevelt, passed by the Republican-controlled state senate of the President's home state after its introduction by a New York City Democrat, was before the lower house of the legislature today with approval there considered likely.

The measure, sponsored by State Senator John P. McNaboe, Tammany Democrat, memorializes legislation to prevent any president from seeking a third term.

Speaker Oswald D. Heck of the lower house, also Republican-controlled, indicated the resolution will be reported from committee in the house in the near future. It was passed in the senate by a voice vote and 25 Republicans joined McNaboe in voting against a motion to reconsider its passage.

Seventeen of the 18 Democrats present in the chamber voted against the resolution after Minority Leader John J. Dunnigan accused the Republicans of being "afraid of Roosevelt."

"He's the only candidate you can't beat," said Dunnigan, "and if he is nominated for a third term, he'll win."

Republican senators greeted this prediction with derisive shouts.

Dewey Flayed

Dunnigan also turned the occasion into an attack on Thomas E. Dewey, aspirant to the Republican presidential nomination, who is here today for a speech to upstate Republican leaders.

"You're bringing a big gas tank from New York up here in the hope of revitalizing the Republican party," he said. "It can't be done."

Several Republican senators, it is known, have considered introducing resolutions condemning a third term, but they decided not to do so. When McNaboe gave them the opening, however, they gleefully passed his resolution.

The Democrats pointed out that all but one of their party members in the senate went on record as refusing to oppose a third term.

The McNaboe resolution quoted the farewell address of George Washington, refusing a third term as president, and continued:

"This tradition of a president of the United States not seeking election for a third term forms the one remaining bulwark protecting the people of this nation against the threat of the establishment of a dictatorship."

Minority Rights Lost?

"With the establishment of a dictatorship the minorities now accorded their rights under our Constitution will be swept aside and accorded the same treatment now given them in certain countries of Europe."

If passed by the assembly, copies of the resolution will be sent to the vice-president, the speaker of the house of representatives and each member of congress from New York state.

SHOPLIFTING SUSPECT REMEMBERS THE CHIEF

A kind word from the law to crime is not easily forgotten and Police Chief William McCrady was not particularly tough on the gang of shoplifters caught in Circleville a couple of weeks back.

At least the Chief had a tender spot for Marion Clifton who became ill and was removed to Berger Hospital. And she thanked "Donald Duck", as she affectionately called him.

No, she didn't forget "Chief Donald Duck". A package arrived for the chief Monday afternoon from Chillicothe and when all the wrappings were torn aside there was Donald Duck standing on a pile of eggs wrapped in cellophane. Around his neck was a note which read, "To Chief McCrady from Marion Clifton."

"I wonder what we'll get when those eggs hatch," the Chief said.

SECOND PROVIDES BOND

Mims Matthews, 22, Detroit, one of the sextet of shoplifters caught in Circleville on February 10, was released from the Ross County jail Monday after posting a $500 bond for her appearance for the April term grand jury on a charge of grand larceny. Mrs. L. T. Cade, Detroit, was released last week after posting a $400 bond. The other four are still being held in default of bond.

PETTENGILL

"The Gentleman from Indiana"

BUREAUCRATIC DESPOTISM

If, for a certain crime Congress fixed a year in prison as the maximum penalty, what would you think of a judge who imposed a penalty of two years? Or if the judge ordered the offender to be deprived of police and fire protection, or water, gas and electricity for his home? You would say that the judge was a tyrant. You would be right. A tyrant is anyone whose own arbitrary will becomes the law to govern other men.

We became a nation because we revolted against tyrants. Our forefathers refused to live under the doctrine of the divine right of kings. They insisted that the people alone are sovereign and alone have the power to determine the law under which they live.

A shocking disregard of this fundamental American doctrine came to light a few days ago by a House Committee's investigation of the National Labor Relations Board. We learn that last August NLRB entered into an arrangement with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. Under it NLRB was to notify RFC of any American business against which a "charge" had been made, or was about to be made (sic) that it had been guilty of some unfair labor practice. If that concern had arranged for a loan from the RFC, the latter was to withhold all disbursements to the borrower. We are told that Madame Perkins' Wage and Hour Division made similar arrangements with the RFC.

Two points should be stressed. It has never been the rule that a penalty could be imposed on an American citizen before he was found guilty of an offense. In the horse and buggy days, a citizen had first to be found guilty before suffering a penalty. He was entitled to a fair trial before judgment, and judgment before jail.

That is old stuff today. The New Deal in justice is to shut off credit the instant anyone is "charged" with violating the law, or even when he is "about to be charged". The assumption now is that the citizen is guilty first and innocent only if he can prove it.

But this assumes that Congress had in fact authorized the withholding of credit in addition to a fine after the offender, upon due trial, has been found guilty. The case goes deeper. Congress has not authorized anyone to withhold credit as an additional punishment for an unfair labor practice, either before or after trial and conviction. NLRB and RFC have therefore secretly undertaken to impose penalties upon American citizens over and above those prescribed by Congress. This is the essence of tyranny. It is government by executive decree. It is not only contemptible; it is cowardly because it was done secretly. The fact that it exists has been disclosed only by reason of the courage and faithfulness of Congressman Smith's Committee, whose creation was opposed as long as possible by the administration.

Let us restate the question: Here is the Jones Company which employs labor. Its business comes within the new definition of interstate commerce and is therefore under the jurisdiction of NLRB. In addition it needs money to expand its operations and employ more men. Congress has authorized it to apply to RFC for a loan. The application is made, the loan granted, and the amount is to be disbursed to the Jones Company from time to time. Relying upon the granting of its loan, the Jones Company extends its operations and makes commitments for raw materials and other expenditures.

At that moment someone whispers to NLRB that the Jones Company has violated the Wagner Act. There is no proof that it has done so. There has been no hearing, no trial and perhaps not even a complaint has been filed by any responsible person. In this situation NLRB sends notice to RFC. RFC then cuts off Jones Company's credit.

It can readily be seen that in many, if not most cases, the cutting off of credit is a much more severe penalty than the fine prescribed by Congress if, in fact, a violation has taken place. It threatens the Company with financial ruin. Faced with ruin by this species of bureaucratic despotism the Jones Company may confess that it is guilty, however innocent it may be.

Every person who participated in this tyranny should immediately be required by the President of the United States to resign from public office.

SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

SURPRISE SNOW COVERS CENTRAL PART OF STATE

Three Inch Fall Recorded In Circleville During Monday Night

ALL HIGHWAYS OPEN

Service Department Busy Keeping Traffic Moving In Uptown District

What was expected to be a light rainfall by weather forecasters turned into a surprise three inch blanket of snow Monday night that covered the greater portion of central Ohio.

Highway department snowplows and trucks went to work immediately to keep the roads open. In Circleville the Service Department equipment was called out to combat the snow on the city's main thoroughfares.

No closed roads were reported by the highway department and the roads, although they aren't slick, should be driven over with care, they warned. The comparatively warm temperature of 32 kept the snow wet and it stuck where it fell. No drifts that had raised havoc during the last storm were reported. A lack of wind kept the snow from piling up.

County schools are all open and holding classes since snow drifts are not impeding buses.

The city service department and the state highway department reported cinderling and sanding operation have been started to forestall any potential accidents that might result from slick crossings.

By International News Service

Although temperatures ranged to 35 degrees, a blanket of snow that in some portions reached a depth of four or five inches covered Ohio today.

Concerted effort by highway department crews kept all main roads in the state open, but the highway patrol reported the wet snow was packing and made driving conditions extremely hazardous. The usual "extreme caution" warning was posted at all sub-stations.

Only light snow was reported in the Mt. Vernon-Zanesville-Coshocton area, while a deeper blanket covered the areas around Toledo, Defiance, Lima, Findlay, and Fremont.

Akron, East Liverpool and Hayesville reported a temperature of 24 degrees early today. Cleveland recorded a 25-degree mark; Toledo 26, Cambridge 28, Columbus 30, Dayton 33, and West Union and Cincinnati the high mark of 35 degrees.

Highway Division Forum Scheduled for March 6

Information and data about the Ohio department of highways and its manifold activities, will be given to the public by J. Perry Shumaker, division engineer, at an open forum in Delaware on Wednesday night, March 6.

At this forum gathering Mr. Shumaker expects to have present numerous high officials from the department's central office at Columbus, to make brief talks and to answer questions concerning the department which may be puzzling some motorists, and others interested in good roads.

This forum will mark the first time that the highway department has ever attempted a public conference where civic, educational and business leaders and others are taken into the confidence of state officials, with no holds barred.

The forum on Wednesday night, March 6, springs from the fact that the department will hold maintenance and construction "schools" for Division Six highway workers on Thursday and Friday, March 7 and 8, where improved practices among members of the field forces will be sought, and inefficient practices weeded out.

These highway "schools" for the department's field forces are an annual event and are necessitated by rapidly technique in all phases of road engineering.

Many Discussions Booked

Details of the program are being worked out by Division Engineer Shumaker, but it is anticipated those attending the forum session will hear discussions of safety, traffic engineering in its human phases, landscape work, including possibilities of roadside parks on a broader scale, and general highway matters.

Highway planning, one of the more interesting topics of road construction, a phase of activity about which little is heard, will be one of the topics under discussion. Highway planning is a procedure being used more and more all the time in new construction, relocation and other department activities.

The counties which comprise Division Six are Marion, Monroe, Union, Delaware, Madison, Franklin, Pickaway and Fayette.

One feature of the forum which Mr. Shumaker is planning is the bringing to Delaware of safety testing equipment designed especially by the highway department to determine certain features in the operation of an automobile.

There is a possibility that if Mr. Shumaker's efforts prove successful at this forum, it will be made an annual event in his division. The novel idea of having state officials make a public accounting is expected to have beneficial result.

A QUIET WAR

THERE is much talk of "the European war" as if it were the beginning of a new "world war". But so far, there is no war over there except the marginal fight in Finland, and the sea struggle which also is remote.

On land, the great areas over which vast armies fought 25 years ago are still peaceful although many million men are under arms. There is only unimportant military and aerial sniping, to keep the armies from going to sleep. And in spite of the signs of activity in some areas lately, especially in the Near East, it is still uncertain whether there will be another military struggle between the rival powers.

What is going on is merely a siege of Germany by the Allies, with no real military effort on the part of the Germans to lift that siege. There has been little naval activity except by the British. The only defensive effort of importance on the German side has been aerial action against British and neutral shipping.

Military hell may break loose at any time, and the experts are expecting real action in the spring. But up to now, life on the continental "front" has been so dull that the troops are bored. And if such a situation lasted many more months, boredom itself might end the war.

FISH FOR TITICACA

AN attempt is being made to stock Lake Titicaca, on the border between Peru and Bolivia, with more valuable food fishes than are native to it. A shipment of two million whitefish eggs and hundreds of thousands of lake trout eggs in special containers has recently been sent from New York. The distance to be covered is 4,700 miles.

Lake Titicaca, 12,500 feet above sea level, is the world's highest body of water with steam navigation. It is mostly quite shallow, so that boats frequently run aground, yet there is one trough deep enough to cover all but a foot or two of the Eiffel Tower.

The water is extremely cold, even in midsummer, but never freezes. Travelers who can stand the altitude enjoy a wealth of unusual scenery from the deck of a boat, high up in the Andes. In addition to the magnificent mountain peaks there are Indian ruins, some of which are believed to have been left by a civilization preceding that of the Incas and Mayas. Some of us may be going there for a bit of fishing.

Turkey is certainly going modern. The government has started controlling prices. The price of Turkish goods used to be whatever anybody would pay.

Wouldn't it help matters a little in Viipuri if Finnish planes would drop a few six-inch shells on Leningrad?

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE ... Hour by Hour

Pages From the Diary of an Antiquated Reporter:

Up to another day of complaints about the long life of Winter. Seems as though everyone has had enough of snow and ice and near zero temperatures. Wonder how Bill Hamilton likes it? He just returned from Florida. That must make it doubly bad.

Chatted with Bud Harden who would rather fish than shovel snow, and with Pastor Robert Kelsey, who told of an interesting sign viewed on the office wall of Bob Heistand, chief executive of the Central Ohio Area, Boy Scouts of America. It read: "What shall it profit a community if it gain the whole world and lose its own boys?" That one is difficult to answer, but the problem it implies is a most difficult one. Youngsters are inclined to believe that big opportunity exists only in the big cities. That is not true. If a youth has it in him to really make good he can do so just as well in a small town as in the city. If he has it in him to fail he will fail in either place. Then, too, the competition is not so difficult in the smaller communities.

Heard about Big Dan Stout who survived an unusual experience many the long year ago. A ramrod stuck in Big Dan's muzzle loading rifle. Try as he might he could not move it. Then, knowing that the barrel contained some powder he packed some additional powder into the tube, put on a cap, took off his right boot, got a firm hold of the ramrod with his teeth and pulled the tripper with his great toe. Out came the ramrod and kept right on going. It passed clear through the back of his neck and stuck in the ceiling. Big Dan lost a tooth and had a very sore neck for a few weeks, but he survived.

It was Wallace Crist who turned over a clipping out of one of his trade magazines, the clipping dealing with actual excerpts from letters received by state relief. "My husband worked one shift for two months. Now he left me and I ain't had no pay since he's gone or before either." "Both sides of my parents is very poor and I can't except anything from them as my mother has been sick in bed with the doctor for one year and won't change." "I have already rote the president and I don't hear from him and I will rite Uncle Sam and tell him about you both." "This is my eighth child. What are you going to do about it?" "Please find out if my husband is dead as the man I am living with won't eat or anything until he nos for sure." "I am annoyed to find out for certain you have branded my boy illiterate. Ah, the sham, as it is a dirty lie as I married his father a week before he was born."

Mrs. Margaret Smith sent over a beautiful iris that had come to bloom in her home. A real decoration. Did see and thank Bob Brehmer for the grand rose he sent to help brighten the occasion of my birth anniversary.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN.

FEAR OF BATTLE VANISHES

WASHINGTON—Last summer the President moved heaven and earth to get Congress out of Washington before it passed the Barden amendments which he believed would emasculate one of his favorite measures—Wage-Hour Act.

When Congress adjourned without passing the amendments, Roosevelt's friends feared he might have even a tougher battle when Congress came back in January. However, Congress has been in session for two months and little has been heard of the amendments, although they can be called up any time under a House rule. Odds are the amendments will be dropped.

Number one reason for the change of heart by Wage-Hour critics is Colonel Philip Fleming.

Fleming, dapper little Army officer, assumed an appeaser's role after he succeeded Elmer Andrews as head of the agency. He reinterpreted certain sections of the act and quieted many critics, mainly in the South.

The cautious colonel privately has instructed his investigators to pass up any case when there is any doubt as to whether it comes under the act, and although this conservative policy has riled liberals and labor leaders who demand vigorous enforcement, their complaints to the White House have got nowhere.

NOTE—Another development is the fact that the author of the sweeping amendments, able Congressman Graham Barden of North Carolina, has cooled on the whole idea. He has had numerous conferences with Colonel Fleming and is working out ways and means by which all the Wage-Hour kinks can be ironed out administratively.

DEAF MAN'S TALE

Like his father, famed Thomas Edison, Charles Edison, hard-working secretary of the Navy, is slightly deaf.

Secretly Edison makes something of a joke of this infirmity, and likes to tell stories on himself. Best of these is regarding a Roosevelt cabinet meeting which was discussing the Arlington Radio station jutting into the air not far from the new Washington Gravelly Point airport, and which constitutes something of a hazard to aviators.

The question of 550 acres was mentioned, which brought an immediate remonstrance from Secretary Edison, who has charge of the Arlington Naval Radio station.

"But, gentlemen," he said, "we don't need that much acreage. What can a naval radio station do with 550 acres? We'd be accused of wasting the taxpayers' money. I must vigorously protest against it."

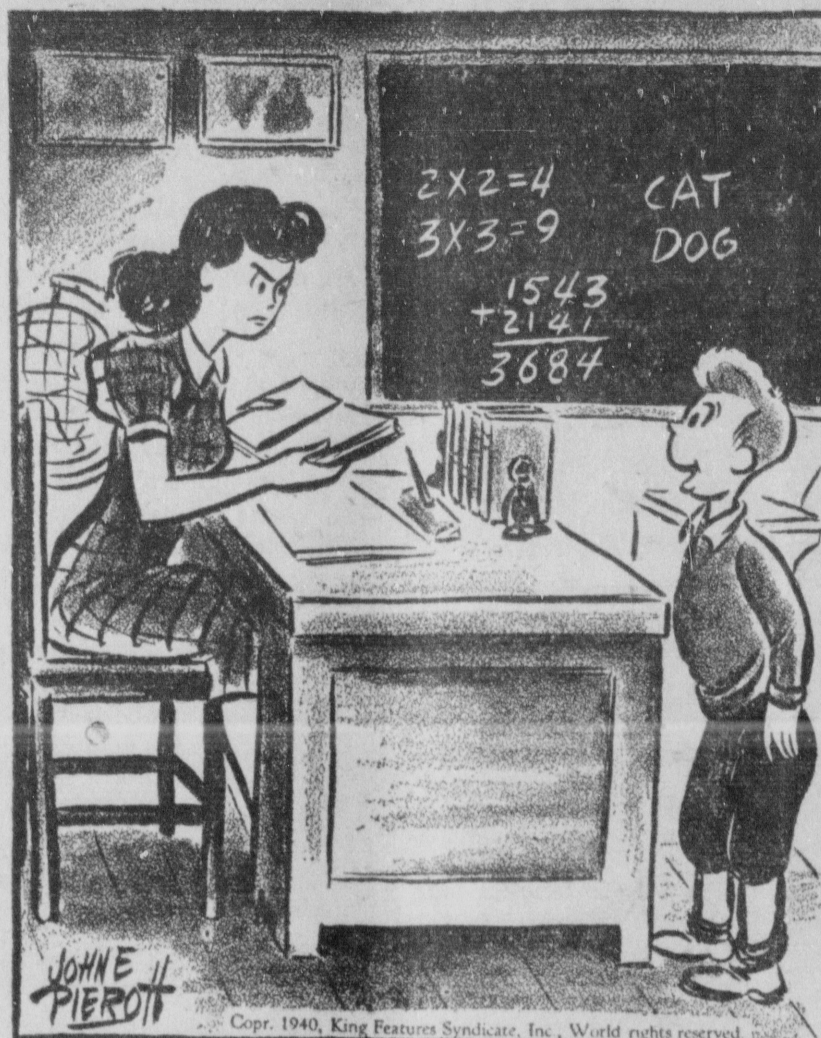

Edison says that he continued to talk about saving the taxpayers' money, and how the Navy didn't need 550 acres, and thought he was making an excellent speech. Then suddenly he noticed smiles on the faces of his cabinet colleagues.

Finally they let him in on the fact that the conversation had switched from the Arlington radio station to the Gravelly Point Airport, and that the 550 acres which he so vigorously opposed, in reality was needed for the airport.

Manipulating Cure In Low Back Pain

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

WE HAVE stated that modern surgery has pretty well proved that most cases of pain low in the back are due to strain or relaxation of the joint between the sacrum and the pelvis. In the course of time the tendons and muscles around this joint get into a state of spasm and this acts as a vicious circle. The use of manipulations, as recently emphasized by Dr. Justus, of St. Louis, has given remarkable relief to many of these sufferers.

The manipulations are performed without the use of an anesthetic and should be followed up by quite a period of hospital rest in bed, and by the use of light and other forms of heat. Re-education of the patient, especially in avoiding movements which may suddenly throw strain on the back, is an essential part of the treatment because it has been found that these patients through ignorance constantly make motions which exaggerate damage already done and cause recurrences.

Patient on Floor

The manipulations are done with the patient on the floor, lying face down on a thin pad. In this position it is easy to see where strain due to posture has caused spasm, and the muscles around the hips and the heavy muscles on each side of the spine, and the muscles in the region of the shoulder, should be massaged and pulled.

The next maneuver is to put the patient on the side, pull the shoulders and push the pelvis in the opposite direction. This, when done for the first time, often causes a snapping sound due to the replacement of the articulation or to the readjustment of the fascia. It also stretches the ligaments and separates the joint.

Next the leg is lifted while stiff, with the patient lying on the face—first one leg and then the other. These manipulations are done with a good deal of force.

The patient is then lifted from the floor by the middle so he is in a fold-up position, which mobilizes the sacro-iliac joint. With the patient on the back, the leg is raised,

keeping the knee straight with the other hand.

After this series of manipulations, which are quite severe, the patient is put to bed with a light on the back in order to gain time for relaxation of the strained joint.

The patient is then taught how to stand up from a sitting position. Many backaches are due to repeated improper movement. The good leg is put forward and hands are placed on the knee; then the knees are straightened.

People with this trouble should be taught how to get in and out of bed. The hands and right knee are first placed on the bed, making support for the left leg to come up from the floor. They then lie down and roll over.

This all may seem unnecessary emphasis, but in orthopedic disability the little things are the ones that count.

CHAPTER FORTY

AN HOUR later, Cholly held out her hand to Terry on the street by the bus.

"Goodby, Terry," she said, tears filling her throat. "I'll always be wishing you luck."

"I'll drop you a Christmas card." Terry tried to grin. "And if you decide to marry that guy Hayworth, I hope all your children have red hair."

"So you don't wish me luck after all?" Cholly made an attempt to match his gaiety.

She stepped onto the bus, turning her face to hide the tears that blinded her eyes.

"Goodby, Terry! Be seen' you."

He stood bareheaded, his face etched with longing. Then, turning swiftly, he walked down the street to the cafe where he sang.

Romany looked up from her book when Cholly opened the door.

"Well!" Cholly threw her coat onto a chair and sat down. "It's all over. So you see, you had nothing to fear."

"I'm glad," Romany sighed with relief. "I know it wasn't easy for you, darling. But we won't talk about it any more. Dove called. I allayed his suspicions by telling him you were doing a little unfinished business. Which was perfectly true."

Before Cholly could answer, there was the unmistakable sound of a key in the lock.

"Who is it?" Romany jumped up, calling in alarm.

"Surprise!"

The door flew open and a vision in sables confronted the two amazed girls.

"Aunt Cissie!" Romany cried happily. "Aunt Cecelia!"

Cissie opened her arms and ran to her eagerly.

"Hello, darlings!" Her aunt laughed. "I thought I'd surprise you for Thanksgiving."

Romany hugged and kissed her rapturously. Then Cholly was embraced by her hostess. Cecelia was followed by her maid, Gretchen, and the chauffeur, Hanover, who came in through the kitchen.

Things didn't begin to settle down to normal for a half hour, as trunks, boxes and bags were put into their proper places. Gretchen began getting some of her mistress' things unpacked so that they would be properly cared for until the next day. Cissie would not permit Cholly and Romany to move their things from the big room overlooking the lake.

"I'm partial to the guest quarters anyway," Cecelia graciously assured them. She had slipped into a negligee of white chiffon and relaxed on the divan in the library before the open fire.

"Oh, lordie!" she sighed luxuriously. "It's grand to be back in these United States!"

Then she moved her pillows so that she could look at the two girls sitting, wide-eyed and worshipful, nearby.

"Well, bless my old buttons!" Cissie shook her head then in wonderment. "If you two kids haven't given me the surprise of my life! Every time I picked up an American radio magazine in Europe, I saw one of your pictures staring at me. Finally, I decided everybody must be sick of my bragging that one was my niece and the other a girl I'd known since she was a day old. So I decided to come home and get in on some of the excitement."

"It's been like a dream," Romany sighed happily. "And everything happened so fast it's made me dizzy."

"And all because you met that announcer at the station, wasn't it?" Cecelia beamed. "From your letters I decided he must be your steady."

Words of Wisdom

Today's Horoscope

Those who are celebrating birthdays today must be prepared to face difficulties and opposition in the year just starting. They should not allow themselves to be overcome by these perplexities, however, as they may be overcome by fortitude and industry, which will bring promotion and advancement. A child born on this date will be of a reversed nature, subtle and determined. Also of somewhat passionate and jealous disposition. Such a personality would best win success in medicine or chemistry.

When a young woman introduces herself socially she says, "I am Joan Jones," not "Miss Jones."

"And how about the writer who coached you? Does he drop around?"

"Once in a while," Romany shrugged, "when I round him up by force. He's been having a run of bad luck and the masculine pride is itching him. Cholly," Romany grinned, "is practically married to the Hayworth syrup millions."

Cecelia seemed delighted.

"I see by the papers, Cholly, that Dove Hayworth has been devoted to you. What does mama say about his falling in love with an actress?"

Cholly winced, and her cheeks grew pink.

"I haven't had the pleasure of meeting the lady. But I'm told she says plenty. I've sent word to her, though, that her son is perfectly safe in so far as I'm concerned."

"Oh," Cissie scoffed, "don't let a little thing like Carrie Hayworth stand in your way of marrying a millionaire! Carrie does a lot of barking, but her bark is much worse than her bite. I've met her a few times at parties. She's not a bad sort. I'm just dying to meet all the boy friends. You must bring them around."

"Do you mean it?" Romany asked, surprised.

"What do you think I came home for," Cissie smiled, looking very young and beautiful in the light from the fire. "Through the lines I've been smelling blossoms and I've come home to play cupid. I was bored to death in Europe. No one ever talks of anything but war war, war! We'll have some parties, and lots of fun. Would you like it?"

"I'd love it," Romany sighed happily. "Wouldn't we, Cholly?"

"Of course," Cholly said, a little uncomfortably. "But I'll be finding an apartment now."

Cecelia sat up hurriedly. "You will not! And don't let me hear you talking about it, my dear. You stay right where you are. How can I keep an eye on your romance with Dove Hayworth if you aren't here where I can meddle in your affairs?"

was surprised.

QUARTET OF GUESTS

Brian Donlevy, Patricia Morrison, both of the films and the piano team of Vronsky and Babin will check into the Music Hall for exactly one hour on Thursday, February 29. Host Bing Crosby will head the reception committee consisting of such well-known personages as Robin Burns, the Music Makers and John Scott Trotter's orchestra, for the broadcast over the NBC red network at 10.

After playing the part of the tough dance-hall operator in the hit picture, "Destry Rides Again," Brian Donlevy decided on a program of relaxation. He'll be perfectly at ease in an interview with Bing and Bob who made him promise to leave his shooting irons at home.

Old favorites are Vronsky and Babin who manage to coax rare harmony out of a pair of pianos.
Miss Vronsky is really Mrs. Babin
but both feel "Vronsky and Babin" sounds better professionally than "Mr. and Mrs. Babin."

Bing gives out vocally on "In
An Old Dutch Garden," "Devil
May Care," "Say Si Si," "Beautiful Dreamer," and for his 1850 memory song, "Camp Town Races." John Scott Trotter's orchestra does a special arrangement of "18th Century Drawing Room."

HEIDT MAKING PLANS
Although Horace Heidt and his orchestra already have coast to coast tour commitments to keep them busy for at least two months, plans already are rolling in Hollywood for their forthcoming movie, "The Pot o' Gold."

James Roosevelt, Hollywood executive and son of the President, is the man who jumped on the "Pot o' Gold" idea when he noted the sensational rise of the radio program in listener popularity.

Current plans are to base the film exactly on the "Pot o' Gold" as it works on the air with music by the Horace Heidt band.

Meanwhile the "Pot o' Gold" itself continues as a great radio hit on the NBC-Red network each
Tuesday at 8:30 p. m.

RADIO NEWS NOTES
The major comedians missing from radio this season all have plans for Broadway musicals.

They include Ed Wynn, Jimmy
Durante, Al Jolson, Joe Cook,
Jack Haley, Sid Silvers and
W. C. Fields.

Artists Bureaus of both NBC and CBS are backing road shows of legit plays. CBS plans to send them on 60 one-nighters next season.

Verá Vague has given up her other radio shows on the west coast to come east with Edgar Bergen.

Other commitments have forced the cancellation of Ezra Stone's proposed appearance on the Kate Smith Hour March 8.
The star of "The Aldrich Family" is in the midst of a personal appearance tour which probably will have him out of New York on that date.

The Andrews Sisters, who were due to bow off the Glenn Miller show after their first 13 weeks, will probably continue, going on tour with Miller's orchestra.

Although he planned to do nothing but his broadcasts while in Florida, Kay Kyser has weakened to the point of scheduling several one-nighters around Miami.

His work on the first "Lunchoon at the Waldorf" airing on NBC was so impressive that Frank Luther, starred in "Songs of America" now has two sponsors talking terms.

Margaret Lindsay was the 100th Hollywood name to be signed for an appearance on the George Jessel "Celebrity Program."

David Ross, whose "Pipe Dreams" are heard on the "Breezin' Along" sessions, travels to Durham, N. C., this week to attend a Chamber of Commerce banquet.

EX-PUGILIST, 24, GOES ON TRIAL IN NAZI DEATH

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 — Testimony was to begin today in the trial of Ernie Haas, 24, a pugilist, who is charged with the death of Dr. Walter Engelberg, 42, first secretary of the German consulate, last December 6.

The jury to try Haas was finally completed shortly before midnight after hours of tedious prosecution questioning of prospective jurors concerning their sentiments about Nazism. All those who admitted that dislike of the Nazi regime would prejudice their judgment were excused.

Lom Signs; His Big Task Is To Make Fans Forget

By Bill Corum

NEW YORK, Feb. 27—Signor Ernesto Natali Lombardi, the sleeping beauty of Crosley Field, Cincinnati, signed his 1940 contract in Tampa yesterday. This was something of a surprise to us, as we had a feeling that the signor probably was still snoozing on the old home plate. When we left him there after the last game of the World's Series, it didn't look as though Ernesto had even left a call.

Granting that the Yankees can be pretty discouraging and that the Reds weren't going anywhere in the series, it still was a slovenly exhibition on Signor Snozzoz's part. If he was so worn out that he couldn't get back onto his feet while DiMaggio was running practically all the way from second base to the plate, Lombardi shouldn't have been out there on the field taking up room.

Snozzozola can make us forget, and certainly the Redfand fans, by stepping out there this spring and pounding that potato in the style to which it has become accustomed when he is at the plate.

That's the beauty of baseball and the real test of today's treatise—that it is a bright, new deal when the ball boys gather in the spring. A new deal in which anything can happen, and many unexpected things do. Who would have dared to guess this time a year ago that Lou Gehrig would not be going South with the Yanks this spring, and that Benny McCoy would be a $45,000 beauty with the A's?

Why a lot of people would have bet you that Connie Mack wouldn't give 45 G's for the Philadelphia city hall.

The one thing certain about baseball is that there is nothing certain about it. And, some will add, that the Yankees will win the pennant. But even that "axiom" will have to be proved by the exception to the rule one of these seasons.

The tell on the Yanks will come when a man named Dickey really starts to run down, or something happens to him. We trust nothing will, naturally. But the tall rock of Little Rock is McCarthy's Rock of Gibraltar. Or so I am convinced.

If, and when, it turns out that the mighty men of Manhattan can lose him and still go on winning, then there is no reason to believe that they'll ever lose one. In that case, they'll likely continue to win championships until they run out of baseballs.

65 PERSONS AT JOINT MEETING OF COMMITTEES

J. F. Mader And T. D. Krinn To Attend District Conference

CAMPAIGN IS DISCUSSED

Candidates To Be Informed Of Proper Methods To Conduct Campaigns

Pickaway County Democratic committees, executive and central, met Monday evening in a joint session that was described by chairmen as being filled with harmony and interest. Sixty-five members of the two committees were present, the session being held in the Common Pleas room of the courthouse.

The committees chose five delegates and five alternates to attend the state Democratic convention to be held soon in Columbus. The delegates include John F. Mader, executive committee chairman; C. W. Helvering, central committee chairman; T. D. Krinn, O. M. Beckett and J. B. Cromley and alternates, Wayne Brown, Orrin Updyke, John Himrod, Mayor W. B. Cady and Karl Herrmann. Mr. Mader and Mr. Krinn, the latter secretary of the executive committee, were nominated by the committees to attend a meeting in Lancaster this week at which time delegates and alternates from the 11th Ohio Congressional district will be determined. Mader and Krinn will represent Pickaway County at the meeting.

Mr. Mader said that many of the present central committeemen are preparing to file their petitions for reelection subject to the primary. Places of persons who do not intend to run for the committee again will be filled by capable persons, Mr. Mader declared.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

of George Washington's surprise letter in defense of a third term is that President Roosevelt knew of its existence two years ago. However, he never mentioned it, though New Deal intimates who have come out for a third term would have given their eyeteeth for such a potent weapon.

A photostat of the letter from Washington to Lafayette was first sent to Roosevelt on Washington's birthday in 1938 by George L. Rees, Brooklyn, N. Y. historian and collector of rare documents.

"I wanted to smoke him out," recalls Rees. "But it was no soap. He only sent me a polite note thanking me for the 'original greetings.' I waited, thinking some of his friends might get hold of the letter and publish it, but nothing happened."

Rees waited two years and then made a second attempt to gain national recognition for the precious manuscript which he had unearthed from the dusty files of the library of Congress. He walked into a New York newspaper office with his find and shyly asked if it would not be timely to publish it in view of the third term furor.

The letter made headlines; for the refusal of President Washington to accept a third term set a hitherto unbroken precedent, and the note to Lafayette repudiated this accepted theory.

"I can see no propriety," he wrote to General Lafayette, "in precluding ourselves from the services of any man, who in some great emergency, shall be deemed, universally, most capable of serving the public."

How Rees discovered the letter is a story in itself.

Because there were no organized political parties in Washington's day and in view of his known predilection of exceptional men in the public service, the 60-year-old Brooklyn historian says he "could not conceive of George Washington opposing a good president from continuing in office for three terms."

Acting on this hunch, he spent days combing through hundreds of Washington's letters in the manuscript section of the library. The task seemed hopeless until he found the First President's ancient, leather-bound letter copy book. Under date of April 28, 1788, while Washington was living in post-war retirement at Mount Vernon, Rees found the letter he was looking for.

COLUMBUS HAS RELIEF CRISIS; BILLS OVERDUE

COLUMBUS, Feb. 27.—In an effort to stave off suits by the city's grocers, who hold relief warrants for nearly $300,000, Mayor Floyd Green and other city officials met today in an attempt to find money with which to meet the outstanding vouchers.

The city auditor's office notified the mayor that it feared the Columbus Retail Grocers' Association would institute suit on the warrants after an Association protest, last week apparently had gone unheeded.

The city council last night shelved a plan advanced by Councilman Arvin J. Alexander asking the county to divert auto license tag revenues to relief since city and county officials have worked out a cooperative WPA work relief program.

Mayor Green was strongly in favor of some solution to the problem.

MOTORIST, 23, JAILED

BRICKER CALLS RELIEF CONFAB FOR NEXT WEEK

COLUMBUS, Feb. 27.—Informing that Cleveland faced a relief fund shortage of $1,500,000 in 1940 despite a sharp increase in employment, Governor Bricker today called a conference of state, municipal and WPA officials for Monday to discuss possible methods of alleviating the situation.

The meeting is to be held at 2 p. m. Monday in the office of State Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood. An increased WPA highway program is expected to be proposed to put to work a sizeable portion of the 60,000 persons now on relief in Cleveland.

At a meeting late yesterday with the governor, Mayor Harold H. Burton, of Cleveland, revealed that present estimates indicated the relief fund would be short approximately $1,500,000. Needs for the year are estimated at $6,500,000.

Burton declared that unemployment in the Lake Erie metropolis had dropped from a peak of 220,000 in 1933 to 109,000 this month. In July, 1938, he said, there were 210,000 out of work.

"But that hasn't taken people off the relief rolls," Burton explained. "The employment increase has been among skilled workers. We still have to take care of 22,000 cases, or about 60,000 persons."

He said that at present 35,000 persons were employed on WPA projects, but many of those were given partial relief during January and February because inclement weather kept them from working.

FIRE AT WEILER HOME

A fire which was easily extinguished by the firemen and which caused negligible damage broke out in the home of E. W. Weiler, Watt Street, at 7 p. m. Monday. Wallpaper that had been used to cover an unfilled flue hole of a coal stove became overheated by the furnace. No estimate of the damage had been made.
